• Hellas supporter Bill Siavalas had his third confrontation with death when he sprang to the aid of Alan Davidson at Middle Park last week.

Davidson himself later thanked Siavalas for having saved his life.

But the experience brought back heart-wrenching memories for Siavalas.

Six years ago, he applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in an attempt to save his two-year-old daughter, Joanna.

He failed. Joanna had a heart condition and despite her father's efforts, she died. Three months ago, Siavalas's South Clayton neighbor collapsed from the effects of a penicillin injection. Siavalas went to his aid and the neighbor still is thankful to him.

Davidson collapsed behind play against Sydney Hakoah last Sunday. Play was at the other side of the pitch, and Davidson lay on the ground for some time before Siavalas jumped the fence, freed Davidson's tongue and applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

"I had to do something. I could see he couldn't breathe," Siavalas said.

"He was turning blue in the face. He had partly swallowed his tongue. He was lucky he hadn't swallowed it completely, otherwise I wouldn't have been able to do anything."

Davidson, in his bed at Prince Henry's Hospital, said: "I owe Bill my life. What more can I say? I just feel tremendously grateful. I'm only 23, so I reckon I've got a bit more living to do."

"I'm going to ask our president, Leo Anezakia, to make Bill a life member of the club."

Mitchell for 'Roos

... and door to national team still open: Arok

By LAURIE SCHWAB

David Mitchell of Glasgow Rangers will play for Australia in the international series in May-June.

"It's stipulated in our contract with Rangers that they bring Mitchell along and allow us to use him in the Australian team," national coach Frank Arok said.

The Socceroos will earn at least $1000 a week during the series.

Arok said that the 40 Socceroos he named last week for the international series were not necessarily the final selection.

"I never said it was my final squad," he said. "Other players still have about five or six weeks to force their way in. Some are staking a claim with some good performances, while others are dropping themselves with bad performances."

Mitchell, who joined Glasgow Rangers from Sydney City Hakoah last year, has played 12 full international games for Australia and scored eight goals.

He played for Adelaide City Juventus before joining Hakoah.

Asked whether Australian expatriate Eddie Krncevic of Dinamo Zagreb also had a chance of playing in the international series against Manchester United, Juventus Nottingham Forest, Rangers, and perhaps Iraklis, Arok said:

"Krncevic is out of this year at least. Earning is second last on the Yugoslav ladder, he's in and out of them, and the club won't release him because it needs all the help it can get."

Asked about George Christopoulos, the former South Melbourne Hellas and Canberra Arrows player now with AEK Athens, Arok said: "I've never seen enough good things from him. He can't get mad. I want people to get mad, who are born winners."

Asked why he had not selected one of Victoria's top players, Tommy Cumming, Arok said Victorian coaches had not recommended him.

He denied he had overlooked Cumming because the player was suing the ASF over an injury he sustained while last in the national team. "I've never seen Cumming play, but I'll certainly look at him in the next few weeks. There are six or seven guys who are fighting hard to get into the squad."

Mitchell replaces Blacktown's Phil O'Connor who has withdrawn because of a cartilage operation.

O'Connor is the only one to drop out so far. Alan Davidson, who was injured last Sunday, will miss two NSL matches, but should be OK for the international series.

Arok is happy that even coaches who criticised him after his appointment, are now helping him. Peter Ollerion, for example, sent him his list of recommendations last week.

Robson and other stars to stay home

Problems for the international series in May-June: Bryan Robson, Ray Wilkins, Mike Duxbury, Gary Bailey, Arthur Albiston, Steve Hodge, Viv Anderson, Davie Cooper and possibly Rami Moses and Alfie McCosk won't be playing.

England and Scotland clash in the British Championship at Hampden Park in Glasgow on May 26, the day Manchester United is due to meet Australia A at the Sydney Cricket Ground.

Ron Atkinson, the manager of Manchester United, told "Soccer Action" Les Shorrocks by phone this week that Robson, Wilkins, Duxbury and Bailey would be required for the England team, and Albiston for Scotland, so they won't be able to tour.

Cooper of Glasgow Rangers, definitely will be in the Scotland squad, and McCosk is a possibility.

England tour

England will tour South America for games against Peru, Brazil and Uruguay in June, and Anderson and Hodge both of Notts Forest, are likely to be in the squad, with Moses a possibility.

Robson's absence from the Manchester United team is the biggest blow to local fans, as he is the No. 1 player of United, and also captain of England.

Another top player who won't be here for the series is European Footballer of the Year Michel Platini of Juventus, who is required to play for France at the time.

And the Greek club, Iraklis, may not arrive on schedule as it still is in the Greek Cup, the final of which will be played on June 10 — two days after Iraklis is scheduled to play against Australia B in Adelaide.

United, Juve, Forest: the record-breakers

Juventus, Manchester United and Nottingham Forest long have been among the biggest spenders in world soccer.

Juventus twice set world transfer fee records.

In 1957, the great Omar Sivori switched to Juve from River Plate for $1,000 pounds sterling, beating the previous record (Juan Schiaffino from Penarol to Milan) by 19,000 pounds.

In 1968, Juventus established a new record, buying Pietro Anastasi from Varese for 500,000 pounds.

Juventus was involved in yet another world record fee, but this time it collected the money rather than spending it, when Vicenza paid a 1.75 million pound fee for a half-share in Paulo Rossi.

Rossi went back to Juventus for 2 million pounds in 1981, but the world record that year was the 5 million pounds Boca Juniors paid to Argentinos Juniors for Diego Maradona.

Nottingham Forest was the first British club to pay a transfer fee over 1 million pounds — splashing out 1,150,000 for Trevor Francis of Birmingham, in 1979.

The following year, it bought Ian Wallace from Coventry for 1,250,000 and collected the same amount from Manchester United for Garry Birtles.

Kiwis beaten by Saudi Arabia

Saudi Arabia sprang a major surprise in the Asia-Oceania Olympic qualifying tournament in Singapore when it beat fancied New Zealand 3-1 in a group A match.

New Zealand was 2-0 down after 26 minutes and did not pull a goal back until the 60th minute as it slumped to a defeat that undermines its hopes of reaching Los Angeles.

Meanwhile in group B, Thailand thrashed Japan 5-2. Thailand's hero was Piyapong Puenon who scored a hat-trick with goals in the 17th, 50th and 74th minutes to delight a 25,000 crowd at the Singapore National Stadium.

New Zealand's next match is against Kuwait tomorrow (Thursday).

The 16-day tournament is being played in two groups with the group winners and the winner of a runners-up play-off qualifying for Los Angeles.

Scorers: Saudi Arabia — Majed Mohammed (12th minute, 61), Mehasen Aldosari (26).

New Zealand — Ricki Berbert (60). Attendance: 25,000

Players to blame, says Lujic

"Bloody bullshit" said Zdravko Lujic at suggestions that Yugoslav and British players at Footscray JUST don't see eye to eye.

"The people who talk like that don't want to see JUST being successful. They are not friends of our club," said the 28-year-old left winger.

Gary McDowell is one of my best friends at JUST. In fact I think that Mr Frank Ark should have picked Gary to play for Australia.

"Mr Ark is doing what he thinks is right and I certainly hope that his team can reach the World Cup finals in Mexico in 1986 but in my opinion, Gary is better than many players who have been picked in the 40-man squad for the matches in May and June this year."

The Footscray JUST committee last week re-united Lujic with Cedo Cirkovic when it sacked Bobby McLachlan and appointed Cirkovic as coach. It was Cirkovic who brought Lujic from Yugoslavia to play with JUST in March, 1978.

"I was sorry for Bobby. He was a good man for JUST and the players certainly didn't have anything to do with him being sacked. Actually the whole thing happened so quickly that it surprised me."

"But that's soccer. Every committee wants instant success. Club's don't have much patience. I'm just sorry for Bobby that we didn't play well against Green Gully Ajax."

McLachlan was sacked after Ajax defeated JUST 1-0 at Schintler Reserve two weeks ago.

"No-one played good for JUST in that match. I'm as much to blame as the other players. I think we all took that game far too easy. We all should realise that there is no such thing as an easy game."

"For me, JUST is a good team. We have some very, very good players. But I think psychology plays an important part in the way we perform. If we play against a big-name team, we always do well. If we play against one of the poorer teams, we always struggle."

"I still say that we will finish in the top five."

"I think Bobby was a little bit too defensive. Maybe that's because when he was a player he was a full back. That can be more important than people think."

"What can I say about Cedo Cirkovic? He brought me to Australia. In fact, it was Cedo who first switched me to left back and to be honest, I enjoy playing there. I like to overlap all the time."

However, Lujic has spent most of his playing career on the left wing. He played with Sloboda Tula, Novi Sad and Jedinstvo

By CRAIG MACKENZIE

Brcko in Yugoslavia. He's played against former Socceroo and Marconi sweeper Ivo Prskalo and the great Dez Marton of St George Budapest in Yugoslavia. And while with Jedinstvo he played against his old club Novi Sad, then coached by Frank Ark.

"We won of course," said Lujic.

But back to Cirkovic. "Cedo Cirkovic has made thousands of dollars for JUST. Before he came, the club didn't make much money out of selling players."

"I think that Cedo is a great man. I'm used to his style of coaching. He coaches like other coaches in Yugoslavia. Everything is done with a ball. Players like that."

"And he's a very good man for developing players. JUST certainly has profited from this. Look at players like Zoran Iliaski, Joe Piccione, Joe Palinkas and Mendo Ristovski. It was Cedo Cirkovic who built them into top players and JUST was able to sell all of them for big money."

Lujic has played under five coaches at JUST. Apart from Cirkovic and McLachlan, he also has played under Peter Jaksa, Milenko, Ruzmir and Rocco Ili.

"Remember that every coach has his own ideas. You can't compare one coach with another."

Lujic concedes that he didn't have a good season last year. He was injured early and kept playing. That was a mistake. But he feels a lot fitter now and he expects to get back into top form soon.

"I shouldn't have played with my injury last year. My sprint is the biggest part of my game. I maybe sprint over 60 or 70 metres about 20 times in a match, but I couldn't do that last year."

"I went on holiday in Yugoslavia last November and returned in January. It was a good thing for me because I trained during the Australian off-season with Sloboda Tula and I was able to get treatment from a very good masseur there. However, I was sick with the flu for the last 10 days of my holiday so when I came back I wasn't as fit as I should have been. But I can feel myself getting a lot stronger. I think that I will have a much better year this year than I did in 1983."

It's not easy to play a high standard of soccer in your native country, then when you no longer are able to get a regular First Division game, make a clean break and come to a new country to play. Lujic knows the feeling. He thinks that too many players come here from overseas with false impressions of Australian soccer.

"Too many players arrive here thinking that it will be easy to do well. That's rubbish. Believe me, Australian soccer has quality. More quality than a lot of people think. There are players here who could play in a high standard overseas."

"For me Oscar Crino is a very good player. He must work hard at his game all the time, if he is to keep developing."

"Peter Katholos also is good. He didn't have a great season last year but now he's showing people what he can do. And I like John Kosmina too. He's a very physical player but he also is very smart in front of goal."

"The biggest problem in Australian soccer is with junior coaches. There are many good young players here but they aren't coached properly. If we had a lot of good junior coaches, believe me, soccer in Australia would be great."

JUST has been Lujic's only club in Australia. Other NSL clubs have shown interest in signing him over the past few years but leaving JUST is no easy task.

"I love Footscray J.U.S.T. The club has been very, very good to me and my only wish is to see it get bigger and better. This present committee is working very hard. I know that. I can't complain with what they are doing. It just seems to me that there was a lot more interest in the club about six years ago. Maybe that was because the National League was new and everyone was excited."

"But I still think that J.U.S.T. is a great club."

Just when things were looking up...

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Bobby McLachlan — victim of the fickle fans

Bobby McLachlan was hailed by Footscray J.U.S.T. as a hero during the team's 10-week unbeaten run last season. This year under McLachlan, J.U.S.T. beat league leader Juventus 2-0 and drew 2-2 with second-placed South Melbourne Hellas, with key defender Kyri Kyriakoulas still unavailable, but that wasn't good enough for the J.U.S.T. supporters. They applied pressure on the committee, and McLachlan was sacked last week, after the team had lost 0-1 to Green Gully.

In the blink of an eye, the supporters had forgotten that under McLachlan, J.U.S.T. last season achieved its highest points total in the NSL.

And it's ironic that J.U.S.T. should sack him in the very week that the team's main problem was to have been solved.

Kyriakoulas was back for his first full game, which would have allowed Gary McDowell to move into the midfield. Kyriakoulas is extremely important to the back line, and McDowell is the key midfielder, adding enormous strength to that department, when he isn't required to fill in as a centre back.

It was "Herald" journalist Bob Brian who first told McLachlan that he had been sacked. Brian had heard it from an official of a club other than J.U.S.T.

It wasn't until later that day that a J.U.S.T. official finally rang McLachlan to tell him officially of the sacking.

"That made it even worse. They should have had the courtesy to tell me first," McLachlan said this week.

"I'm disappointed. I don't kid myself on. When you get really good results against Juventus, Hellas and Makedonia (1-1) you've got to be on the right track. It's different if you can only beat bottom sides. Sure, we were rubbish against Green Gully. The players were the first to admit it, but our side is better than last year, and we were very close to getting it all together."

"We still had deficiencies, sure, and it's frustrating when you know the deficiencies and can't do anything about it, while other managers spend $25,000 for the likes of Paul Lewis, or $22,000 for Gary Cole and Jim Campbell. We were simply not in that field. Our spending spree amounted to $4000 for Jim Tansey, $3000 for Jim Davis who hasn't played a league game yet because he's been injured, and $4000 for the loan of Lou Tsigras."

"J.U.S.T. simply can't afford to buy the top players. They had enough problems meeting the contract obligations to their present players."

McLachlan also was disgusted over a scene in the dressing room after the J.U.S.T. match, when a supporter loudly abused Tansey. "It was one of the most degrading things I've seen," McLachlan said. "There is no nicer person than Tansey, and he didn't deserve it. He was brilliant against Hellas, for example, but it's amazing how quickly people forget."

McLachlan thanked J.U.S.T. president Zika Karic and team manager Simon Turudia for their support to the end, until they were outnumbered by others on the committee.

"There are very nice people at J.U.S.T. — real gentlemen — but they sure take some punishment from the outsiders. I'd love to see J.U.S.T. do well, but the nasty element in the club has to change its attitude and all the factions will have to start working together."

McLachlan said the J.U.S.T. players would be easier to play away from home, without the taunts of the club's supporters.

He was particularly angry at suggestions by a few of the fans that J.U.S.T. had "thrown" the match against Green Gully, because Green Gully is McLachlan's former club.

"So many have had to put up with talk like that. Peter Blasby, the Croatia goalkeeper for example, and a lot of other Croatia players as well. There were claims like that made against Heidelberg players some time ago, if you remember. How absolutely ridiculous!"

John Margaritis, Joe Sweeney and Gary Ward had to put up with heaps early in the year, but now they're riding high on top of the ladder.

"They've come good, obviously, but had those fickle fans had their way, everyone would have been kicked out months ago."

"Fans have to understand that every team, every player, has good and bad patches. "In J.U.S.T.'s case, they have to be realistic. On their budget, they can't compete consistently well against the very best teams. They've just got to make do with what they've got."

McLachlan thanked the players for their support, adding that the new coach, Cedo Cirkovic, had inherited "a fine bunch of lads."

McLachlan won two successive State League championships with Green Gully, as well as a big haul of Cups.

"Soccer Action" wishes him well and looks forward to his return to coaching, as quickly as possible.

Junior tours

A good opportunity exists for junior soccer teams to experience the thrill of travelling and playing soccer overseas against countries that are part of the Oceania soccer region.

Two major tournaments have been established for October 1984: the New Caledonia South Pacific Cup for under 13 and under 15 boys the Air Pacific Fiji Challenge Cup for under 14 and under 16 boys.

The tournaments will feature teams from Australia, New Caledonia and Fiji. As these are relatively small countries there is a good chance that the local teams will feature a number of future national stars. Teams are also to be invited from New Zealand.

The trips represent an education in themselves as well as giving the boys a taste of what soccer can offer in the long term. The destinations are close and the cost about a quarter of an equivalent tour to America or Europe.

These are annual events and teams interested should contact Roger Wellings of Sportsweek Tours and Tournaments. Phone: (02) 232 7244.

Other events are also available for men's and women's

Cedo Cirkovic — back as coach

Cirkovic back for 10th year as coach

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Footscray J.U.S.T.'s "new" coach, Cedo Cirkovic, returns to the club he left in 1981.

One of soccer's true gentlemen, Cirkovic coached JUST from 1972 to 1979, when he left over a disagreement, and went to Hellas as director of junior coaching. He returned for the 1981 season, then joined Fawcner which was promoted to the State League under him.

Cirkovic, 49, played for JUST before being elevated to the coaching position.

Under him, JUST won the 1973 State League championship, the 1975 Ampol Cup and the 1976 and 1977 State League Cups.

He left Fawcner only this year because, in a cost-cutting drive, the club asked him to accept lower wages.

Cirkovic had his battles with the JUST committee over the years, most notably over recruitment. Gary Cole and David Brown were among players he pushed the club hard to buy, but committed over-ruled him and made a series of bad buys instead.

Cirkovic returned to the club on a gentleman's agreement. He has not signed a contract.

"If they are not happy with me, they can sack me. If I am not happy, I can leave," he says.

Players remaining in the squad since Cirkovic last was coach of JUST are Kyri Kyriakoulas, Vlatko Belic, Tom

Fil Bottalico

Here's why APIA's 'burning'

By STEPHEN DETTRE

APIA coach Fil Bottalico is adamant his side has been given no special instructions this season to the way it has been sent out in the past.

"I haven't made any major change to the team this year, and my instructions to the players are the same this year as last," Bottalico said.

Nevertheless, APIA is playing with much more assurance and panache this year, including a 3-1 demolition of the old rival, Marconi.

"I think that it is more a case that our players are developing a much better understanding," Bottalico said.

"They seem to know what they're all going to do — that's why they look so mobile on the pitch."

Bottalico said he was also a great believer in utilising his players' abilities.

"We have a crop of small players, who can manoeuvre easily on either side of the pitch."

"They tend to be harder to effectively mark and they can turn defenders suddenly."

"I've told them to utilise their speed and mobility and it's paying dividends."

He said players such as John Bradley, Tony Morsello, Peter Tredinnick and Ian Gray all had small or slight builds.

"I don't want rough-house players," he said.

"Even Arno Bertogna, who is a strongly built lad, doesn't throw his weight around and is one of the most polished defenders in the country."

Bottalico said he was confident APIA's crowds would gradually build up, once the people saw the results were coming.

"Television coverage has also been a tremendous help, because people can actually see what we've done, and it encourages them to go along to the match to enjoy the atmosphere."

Bottalico said he only had a few gripes about playing home matches at Henson Park, with the main one being that it was a little too big.

"Even a crowd of three thousand can get lost in Henson Park," he said.

"The ground is in excellent condition for football, but is a little too far away from the spectators."

"I think we'd be even harder to beat if we could be back at Lambert Park."

Club president Nick Papalio agreed that it would be good if APIA could return to Lambert Park.

The ground was refused approval by the NSL this year because of the lack of decent change room facilities after the small grandstand was burned down last year.

"We have submitted several draft plans and sketches to both the Leichhardt Council and the Minister for Sport, but we've heard nothing back as yet," Papalio said.

He said it was almost certain APIA would return to Lambert Park next year, as long as the plans were approved.

He said they involved the construction of covered seating along the Marion Street side of the ground, and the complete reconstruction of the burned grandstand to include new seating, dressing rooms and press facilities.

"We'd all love to move back to Lambert Park which, after all, is in the heart of the area where most of our fans live."

He said APIA would continue to use Henson Park, although he said if the crowds did not pick up they would have to consider another move.

$300,000 BUT NO TITLE YET

By PETER DESIRA

Half a million dollars outlayed in transfers and fat contracts — and not a championship to show for it yet!

That is the sad story of big spender South Melbourne Hellas in its eight-year history in the National League.

A conservative estimate of transfer fees paid to other clubs for a massive tally of 54 players bought by the club since 1977 brings the total to $432,000 — and that does not include the huge outlay the club has paid in signing-on fees to lure the players from other clubs.

Hellas coach Ian McKendry has confidently told president Leo Anezakis that the present squad will see the club through the next three years.

McKendry is renowned for moulding sides over a period of more than one or two seasons — and if allowed to stick to his beliefs it will be a first for the club which has been known to splash out on new players at the first sign of bad results.

Anezakis has so far backed McKendry to the hilt — and for the first time the club is refusing to be held at gunpoint by players demanding big rises, as is clearly being known by the stand against Carl Halford.

But whether the club can retain that policy with a band of supporters that demands a winning team at all costs remains to be seen.

Regardless of what the future holds the club will always have painful reminders of numerous big-money signings which failed to meet the chaotic standards set by supporters after being hailed as superstars when signing on the dotted line for the first time at Hellas.

Among the numerous failures are $14,000 buy Mendo Ristovski who played only seven games for the club, Graham French who scored only two goals in 20 league games after a $10,000 move from Mooroolbark and Steve Carr who figured in only eight games — including five as substitute — in the turbulent 1979 season after his $10,000 switch from Green Gully.

Other players who arrived with big-buck tags but failed to make it at Hellas include Peter Vaughan (one game for a $400 outlay), David Jones (who played only 10 games after his $15,000 transfer from Adelaide City) and Gerry Bennett, who was discarded by coach Tommy Docherty only 18 matches after he crossed from Green Gully for $5000.

The imports side of the story also includes many who failed to hit it off at Hellas.

In most cases their transfer fee has been listed as $2000 in the accompanying chart — a conservative estimate which would take in the air fare from Britain, telephone bills and early accommodation costs but does not include signing-on fees.

That group includes Malcolm Manley who was brought from Leicester at the tail end of the 1977 season and played in only two games; Noel Mitten who moved to Albion after only nine NSL appearances; Danny McCluskey who was brought from Stenhousemuir and did not make the NSL side and Tony Turner who caused a furore in 1979, costing Hellas three points in the League because he did not have a clearance from his non-league club in England.

Turner played nine games for Hellas in the NSL.

Others whose costs have been placed relatively cheaply at $2000 because no other details are available are Billy Bergman (one game in 1978), Ken Drakeford (12 games in 1979, recruited from Wolves) and John Hansen, the Danish keeper who made a total of 20 appearances in 1978 and 1979.

There was the all-expenses paid trip to Hong Kong in 1977 for a well-known photographer to negotiate with Dave Anderson whose transfer never materialised.

The photographer is a good friend of mine and to ensure he stays that way the trip has also been conservatively estimated at $2000 all up.

The photographer offered Hellas defender Roy Stark, but the club turned him down and Stark joined Canberra instead.

Contracts for star players from overseas are a bit clearer.

Hellas makes no secret of the fact that Frank Munro cost $30,000 contract-wise to lure him from Aberdeen. Jim Shirra had a similar contract to convince him to leave Dundee for Hellas in 1981.

Hellas actually paid a $20,000 transfer fee to English Third Division club Walsall to bring Alun Evans here in 1978.

His contract details remain a mystery but he more than earned his money, scoring 36 goals for the club in 104 games.

Evans is still Hellas' overall top scorer in the NSL.

Steve Wooddin is another whose contract was in the $30,000 bracket when he was finally lured from New Zealand after his successful World Cup campaign with the Kiwis.

He was given a free transfer this season to relieve the club of the remaining one year of his contract and his value in the chart has been set at $20,000.

Another player about whom we have taken a rough approximation of costs is Stuart Baxter who relieved Hellas of at least $15,000 for his two seasons at the club.

But it hasn't been all one big bad luck story for Hellas in recruiting and at the top end of the scale it has made some bargain buys.

The top three would have to be Steve Blair, Alan Davidson and George Christopoulos.

The trio cost only $1000 each to sign from Albion, Altona and Coburg respectively and Hellas got its money's worth many times over.

Blair already has passed the 100 appearance mark, is an Australian international and would be priceless on the transfer market now.

Davidson, now nearing 120 NSL games for Hellas, is still wanted by Arsenal and depending on the UK club's ability to win the appeal for a work permit will move for a minimum of $30,000 if he does leave the club.

Christopoulos graduated from the NSL to the Australian team and now is playing for AEK in Greece.

Others who have proved bargain buys are Charlie Egan who has scored 32 NSL goals so far — excellent value for a paltry $6000 outlay to Frankston — and George Campbell who gave the club five years of magnificent service after being recruited from Aberdeen.

Present-day players Doug Brown, Oscar Crino, Ken Murphy, Bobby Russell and John Yzendoorn are also proving that their big transfer fees was money well spent.

Both McKendry and Anezakis are confident Paul Lewis will also prove their judgment right once he settles into the side and gains match fitness and recovers his scoring touch.

One more significant point is that not one player has seen out the full eight years of NSL competition with the club although Arthur Xanthopoulos and Chris Kalafatis were members of the original 1977 line-up.

Sky's the limit for Bradley, Butler, Bottalico ...

New era of glory for APIA

APIA 4 W.A. Hellas 1

Scorers: Bradley (A) 7th, 31st, Tredinnick (A) 9th, Papadopoulos (H) 66th, Ceban (A) 75th.
Venue: Henson Park, Sydney.
Cautions: Pullen (A), McGregor, Papazoglou, Atsakis, Konstantopoulos, Brown (H).
Referee: Rampley 5.

Better watch out Hakoah, APIA is out to scalp you on Sunday.
That was the unmistakable message out of the Italian club's quietly satisfied locker room after the steamrolling of hapless West Adelaide Hellas.

It is patently obvious that the 1984 version of APIA is set on a course which has its final aim the emulation of the former glories of the great APIA squads of the sixties.

Fill Bottalico was a star of those great teams of yesterday.

Now, after some years in the doldrums, he is a major participant once again - this time as coach of the team he has been building for some time.

In spite of the final margin

Peter Scott

of three goals, he was just a little disgruntled.

When it was suggested that APIA easily could have run in eight or nine goals, Bottalico quietly retorted that, "We miss too many chances every week."

Then on a lighter note - "Maybe we were just saving up a few for next week."

Like I said, watch out Hakoah!

With the score at 3-1 and a quarter of an hour still on the clock, one of the more effective Hellas strikers, George Konstantopoulos, had a great chance to put the visitors back in the game with a chance, but he missed miserably.

To really rub salt into the wound, Bradley and Ceban set up a neat passing pattern immediately from the counter attack with the latter easily beating a clumsy off-side "trap" to take APIA's tally to four.

Man of the Match:
JOHN BRADLEY

Truth be known, it was no less than justice for Hellas to be on the receiving end of a thrashing, as the Greek club was no opposition on the day.

The pattern of the match was obvious from the start, and it was as good as over before ten minutes had passed.

In the seventh minute Terry Butler, back on deck in his captain's role, slipped a neat ball through the defence and it took a deflection off goalie Gary Sproul to Bradley, who managed to net even as a desperate Hellas defender was hanging on to him.

This was a preview of the grand form John Bradley is in, but Peter Tredinnick's big moment came first, just two minutes later.

It came in the form of a neatly placed shot for APIA's second goal.

The margin widened when Butler sent Ian Gray streaking down the right wing. He stepped around his pursuer, putting a neat, low cross into the penalty area.

Bradley had to get down on his knees, but still managed to head into the net surrounded by a crowd of Hellas defenders making like spectators.

The only moment of consolation for the South Australians came in the 66th minute, when young substitute Papadopoulos raced onto a long through ball and neatly side-footed it into Parks' net.

Collins blasts Jim Fokianos

Heidelberg 2 Canberra 1

Scorers: Heidelberg: Patterson 6th, Winn 85th; Canberra: Reis 50th.
Venue: Olympic Village.
Cautions: Macleod (H), Patterson (H).
Referee: Jim Fokianos 6.

Doug Collins was disappointed bitterly with the standard of refereeing, and criticized two decisions in particular: Canberra's disallowed second half goal for a foul on Jeff Olver, and Steve Winn's goal (which proved to be the matchwinner), claiming that the ball was cleared before crossing the goal line.

Admittedly, referee Jim Fokianos did not have a particularly good game, but in fairness to him, he already whistled for a free kick before John Mihailidis' corner kick actually entered the net and with regards to Heidelberg's second goal, although Winn's low header from a Mike Valentine corner was kicked out of the goal by the Canberra defence, the linesman immediately signalled a goal, and Fokianos was well positioned to confirm his fellow official's opinion.

The main difference between these teams was in defence. Don MacLeod and Charlie Yankos being much steadier than Shields and Paul Ontong, easily winning aerial duels and backing up each other well. Canberra on the other hand, had no answer to Scott Patterson's heading ability and could not cope with Steve Winn's aggressive running and excellent positioning.

Theo Vagias, at this stage, lacks the experience to contribute sufficiently, and while he no doubt will improve in time, Heidelberg could use an experienced striker right now to retain its top four standing. Perhaps Peter Devine from English Second Division club Blackburn Rovers will fill that bill.

Man of the Match:

(Heidelberg)

It was a dream start for Heidelberg. After only six minutes, a Valentine corner was expertly headed home by Patterson, to give his team an early lead.

Canberra started the second half well. Reis beat John Gabrielson on the turn, and crashed a powerful shot against the crossbar in the 54th minute. Shortly after, Canberra had the ball in the net, from a Mihailidis corner, which was disallowed by Fokianos due to a foul on Olver by Roy Jones.

With ten minutes to go, Franken brought off the save of the match, when he palmed away Selemdis' powerful header from meters.

In the 89th minute Winn wrapped it up.

Just on full time, Reis volleyed home Hogg's corner for Canberra's consolation goal.

While Newcastle Rosebud United was battling to prove itself in its first NSL sortie, a battle of different sort was taking place in the press-box at Olympic Park No.2.

There are seven telephones in that Press-box high in the sky over the main grandstand. None of them are operable. Three phones need keys to operate yet not one Olympic Park official nor journalist had the precious keys.

So what's it all about? Journalists are trying to file stories at half time and at the end of the match and are unable to do so. Is that the kind of promotion soccer is going to get from Olympic Park for the remainder of the year?

The Australian Associated Press story of matches of Olympic Park No.2 is televised Australia-wide. Surely, there's no need to tell Juventus officials and fans how important this service is to the club in terms of national publicity.

Croatia dazzles, Soper to be fined

Croatia put on a stylish exhibition to carve apart Olympic which played with surprising arrogance.

While Olympic failed to compete, Croatia snapped at every half chance and invariably won the ball, leaving the ponderous Olympic midfielders in their wake.

Croatia played a crisp passing game, flicking the ball around the park and then hitting intelligent crossfield balls that caught Olympic square.

Their lightning attacks were

Andrew Dettre

never better illustrated than after seven minutes when a series of passes ended with a curling cross to Tommy Cumming in the box.

The tiny dynamo stumbled when challenged by Jennings, but Biskic pounced on the loose ball, darted to the goal-line and pulled back a stunning cross which Gojevic headed home.

Hardly had Olympic had time to recover from that set back when George Hannah punished them again for poor marking. Another quick Croatia attack broke down, but the headed clearance was weak and Hannah sent a looping volley back over Meier's head for goal number two.

The Olympic fans remained subdued — possibly unaware that this match did count for competition points.

The Croatian fans, switching their allegiance temporarily to their Melbourne cousins, were delighted with the two early goals and with watching Olympic flounder.

For flounder they did. The normally virile midfield was as impotent as it has ever been, with only Patikas raising himself above mediocrity.

Olympic's defence was partially to blame, for it starved the midfield with a series of curious long balls to the forwards which cut the midfield out of play.

After 14 minutes Olympic had a golden chance to pull themselves back into the game when Keith Adams upended Soper inside the box.

But the normally reliable Raskopoulos hit his spot kick weakly and Peter Blasby saved well.

Soper was booked in the 31st minute for a silly foul, then repeated the dose nine minutes later and was dismissed by referee Power.

Reduced to ten men, Olympic's task was virtually impossible.

They battled to get back into the match after half time, but Croatia never looked like being ruffled.

In fact they often had Olympic reeling in the last ten minutes.

By that stage it was 3-0 when Brogan somehow got a head to Curcio's cross and the ball spun awkwardly over Meier.

Olympic may claim that they did have chances, but the out of form Koussas and desperate Dakos' efforts were hardly enough.

In the end it was left to Peter Katholos to score yet again, after he latched onto a nice through pass from Patikas and smacked the ball past Blasby.

Coach Terry Hennessy was naturally delighted with the result, claiming the team had the class to cause more surprised throughout the year.

"It's been a matter of concentration in the past," he said.

"We've given away silly goals and lost. Now we're keeping our wits about us for 90 minutes. If we do that we've got the skill to score goals and win many more matches."

Olympic's Manfred Schaefer was rotable about Soper's dismissal.

"I'm not going to stand for acts of stupidity by any player, let alone one who has claims for the national team," he said.

"If the club doesn't fine him, then I will." Schaeffer said he thought the team fought hard in the second half. "But it was a case of things going wrong for us all day," he said.

Wollongong coach Adrian Alston joined the Paul Wade admiration society, singing the praises of the talented youngster after Wade had dominated for a large part of this bottom-of-the-table clash.

"Wade is an excellent player. He did everything in this match and was still running after 90 minutes. His distribution is good and his heading ability is tremendous," Alston said.

The Wollongong coach, nicknamed "Noddy" because of his own heading ability during his Soccerroo days, couldn't help having a dig at his former Soccerroo teammate Jimmy Rooney, adding, "If I were the coach, I'd be using him more."

The dig was lighthearted but Alston presented a refreshingly different attitude, admitting after the game that Gully had been the better side.

"I wasn't happy with the way we played. But you take into consideration that the penalty they got was doubtful and that it is always hard playing away and you have to be pleased with a draw."

"Jimmy's side played excellent soccer and he has got them playing the right way."

"They played better soccer than us but then they are a far more experienced side than we are. We've got a very young team and it is hard to adjust at this level."

Rooney called the result a "disaster" for yet another week but was pleased that other coaches are beginning to realise the amount of ability Wade possesses.

"For the amount of possession we had we should have won it easily. But we're not getting the breaks in front of goal and we're still badly missing Steve Short at the back."

"Regarding Paul Wade, I've always known he is a great player and that is what I've been trying to tell Frank Arok and the media in the past few weeks."

"The thing is that his potential has only half been realised and he is going to get even better," Rooney said.

With Wade dominating to such an extent Gully had the lion's share of play in the first half but it took a shock goal from Glen Fontana in the 54th minute to put added sting into the side so it really started threatening Natch Vardareff in the Wollongong goal.

Peter Desira

Fontana took advantage of one of the few times the Gully defence was caught square, to run onto a delightful through ball from Larry Gaffney and slot it past the advancing Lou Denys.

The Greens responded within the minute, putting the ball into the net at the other end through Les Carter but the goal was disallowed for offside.

Carter, deprived of any worthwhile service for most of the game, did earn Gully the equaliser however when Ray Vietstra checked him in the penalty area and referee Sam Zoumas immediately pointed to the penalty spot.

Cannell made no mistake from the spot kick sending Vardareff the wrong way and slotting the ball to the left to become Gully's top scorer with two penalty goals to date. Alston claimed it was a "soft" penalty — and Jimmy Rooney tended to agree — but Zoumas said afterwards that there were no doubts in his mind and that Vietstra apologised to his teammates rather than dispute the decision.

Apart from Fontana's goal, Wollongong had two other attempts, first when David Green hit the side netting following an intelligent overlapping run down the right in the first half and soon after the goal when John Fleming's striking 25-metre shot required two bites at the cherry by Denys to bring the ball under control.

Gully on the other hand piled on the pressure in the closing half four and it was only Vardareff's save and Peter Williams' determined mood at sweep-er which kept them at bay.

The attempts at goal included a piledriver from en Smart in the 68th, another from Fab Mancinelli which was turned away for a corner and a wickedly serving corner kick from Jimmy Williams which Vardareff also managed to get a hand to.

Rooney replaced Toal to give Steve McClelland his first run in the NSL in the 71st minute and the Scot held his own in an unfamiliar front-running role.

He threw his weight around well and went in for two tackles, showing no signs that the broken leg he sustained in his debut for the club last year is playing on his mind.

This week the Greens regain David Smallman after injury and hopes are high that the club can get a result even though the opponent is high-flying Heidelberg.

Experienced striker Clive Eaton, signed from Kuringai only two days prior to the match against Preston Makedonia, made a dream debut by scoring three goals to spearhead Blacktown to yet another four-goal, Demon orgy at the Gabbie.

Eaton took a long time to get the scoring sheet, but once there, the old hat-trick master was at his menacing best. During last season in the NSW State League, Eaton notched three hat-tricks and it will be no surprise if he does it again in the NSL.

His first goal in Blacktown colours came with 20 minutes to go. Tony Rasmussen made a good run on the left flank before slipping his pass to John Larkin. A cross by Larkin and a header by Eaton was the penalty spot after Chris Dunleavy dumped Con Opasins.

Only three minutes later, the roles were reversed as Eaton did the spade work to find Michael McLaughlin and eventually the ball went to Larkin who made no mistake to make it 2-0.

With 10 minutes remaining and Makedonia in all sorts of trouble it was Larkin on the ball again to provide Eaton with the pass and the "old fox" was on the spot to chest it down before scoring.

Six minutes later Eaton was running riot looking for goal number three. He was at the end of a move which saw no less than five Blacktown players involved to score with a looping 16 metre drive.

A minute later Gary Cole managed to score from the penalty spot after Chris Dunleavy dumped Con Opasins.

And all this in just 20 minutes! During the previous hour neither side prevailed in an even but entertaining game with very few openings at either end. Zarko Odzakovic came close for Makedonia, while Michael McLaughlin could have done better after some good spade work by Wheatley and Sandy.

Cole, kept quiet by the efficient Blacktown defence, did manage to break through once but was foiled by fine goalkeeping from Barry Hoar.

The second-half was all, but for a short period, Blacktown and the score tells the story. Robert Wheatley and Hoar again were the stars of the home side with Larkin putting up yet another fine display in front of Gary Byrne, nursing an injury, was slowed down considerably while McLaughlin is still struggling to find form.

As for the visitors, it was all systems go for a long time, then a sudden crash. Cole came off the Park shaking his head in disbelief, but he did very little to enhance his team's Performance, while Odzakovic was again the pick of Makedonia players.

Melita Eagles stretched their unbeaten run to six games when they accounted for a somewhat uninspiring Footscray JUST.

This win enables Melita to join APIA at the top of the Australian Conference and who would have been bold enough to predict such an achievement by this team?

The man most responsible for their immediate success was midfielder Alex Jamieson, playing in place of injured Ray Farrugia. Alex worked non stop in attack and defence, scored a goal and was the driving force and inspiration to his team.

It was an unhappy return for Cedo Kirvovic, now back in charge of the unpredictable Yugoslav team after an absence of two years.

His side was largely responsible for giving away both goals.

With only five minutes gone, Melitas Don Allan was involved in a chase for the ball when two JUST defenders, in an attempted tackle, one of the outstretched legs managed to steer the ball past goalkeeper Lou Tsigaris into the far corner.

There was much contention about who had scored, but referee Doug Rennie, who was always in control, was on the spot and ruled an own goal by fullback Igor Hazabent.

Then, in the 20th minute, winger Stuart Johnston intercepted a misdirected back-pass, drew Tsigaris off his line and managed to square the ball to Alex Jamieson who made no mistake in finding the net.

Melita's speed was quite devastating and JUST had to reshuffle its defence in an attempt to hold its rivals.

With 15 minutes remaining in the half, Melita inceptively slowed the game right down which allowed the visitors to mount a few dangerous attacks.

The chief tormentor was winger Zdravko Lujic whose twisting, turning, speedy runs caused the home team's defence the most concern. Pity his teammates were seldom in support as he invariably managed to find his way around the fullback only to have no one to pass the ball to.

Nonetheless J.U.S.T.'s best chance to score was in the 36th minute when Jamie Farron's unchallenged header from six metres sailed over the bar.

Melita's second half performance invoked cries of anguish from its coach and supporters.

After such an enterprising first period the team was now unrecognisable. They were lethargic in attack and sluggish in defence. Only the hard work of Jamieson, Tredinnick and McPherson kept the side on the winner's list.

Coach Raul Bianco must be at wits end in trying to break Melita's "two-goal syndrome."

Time and again they score two goals then coast along failing to add to their tally from easy chances, and then let the opposition come back at them.

JUST unfortunately wasn't able to rescue anything from this game. Their only goal was scored by Kyriakoulas from close range after Melita filed to clear a corner kick.

In the 86th minute, a delicate dummy by Kirwan gave Brett Woods a shooting opportunity and with Evans unsighted, Woods fired an attempt which skimmed the outside of the upright.

Then one minute later Arnold finally got past Lions stopper Alan Hunter with a skilful turn and found himself in a one-on-one with Evans. But he Croatia striker lost his composure and blasted his shot over the top.

A mysterious "keeper's ball" call cost Brisbane Lions a victory against Sydney Croatia at Richmond.

The call went out from someone other than Lions keeper Wayne Evans and with the Lions defence hesitating, Croatia striker Ken Boden raced in unchallenged to head home a Shane Clinch cross and give the Sydney side a 2-2 draw.

The goal maintained Boden's goal-game record with Croatia since he transferred from Sydney City just over a week ago.

Lions had dominated the match for more than 60 minutes and looked to have two points in their keeping until Croatia rattled their defence and wrenched the midfield from Lions' John Stewart, John Ogden and Russell Stewart.

Lions went into the break with a much deserved 1-0 lead. The goal came in the 26th minute when Lions striker Calvin Daunt rose above Croatia goalkeeper Steve Watson to head home a cross from Steve Jackson, who in addition to being outstanding in defence made several dangerous breaks down the flank.

The youngster never was beaten and looks a certainty to play for Queensland against New South Wales later this month.

Daunt's goal brought his tally to three in two games after his doubler in the replayed derby against Brisbane City last Wednesday.

Lions could have had several more goals in the first half but for some brilliant goalkeeping from Watson and an unsuccessful penalty appeal

QSF v. Arok

A major foul is brewing between Queensland soccer officials and Australian and New South Wales coach Frank Arok on the eve of the interstate clash at Perry Park on April 29.

The Queensland officials, including QSF president Ian Burrasco and State coach Bruce Stowell have been angered not only by the treatment the State received in the naming of the 40-man national squad, but also some of Arok's remarks afterwards.

Burrasco and Stowell openly attacked Arok for his exclusion of Brisbane City and Queensland keeper Kim Wishart, who was chosen by Arok as No. 2 to Terry Greedy for the England series last year.

Stowell, who said Wishart's exclusion was a slight on Queensland soccer, claimed Arok had not even considered the five recommendations he had sent for consideration.

But Arok returned the fire by saying two of the players in Stowell's six recommendations did not have Australian residency while another "was 32-years-old and of no use for our World Cup plans."

The remark stunned Stowell who took the line that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones.

"While I don't think age should have anything to do with selection and ability should be the only criteria, there are at least two players in Arok's squad who I know for a fact are much older than 32."

Burrasco slammed Arok for "wasting money" in calling coaches together prior to the naming for the national squad. He said the exclusion of Wishart had constituted a mockery and a sham of the whole selection process.

Youngsters sacked

Canberra Arrows have dispensed with the services of two promising youngsters — but managed to hold onto a third.

Qui are ex-AIS youngsters Ray Junna and Michael Barnett. Collins has transferred Junna for $2000 to NSL side, Brisbane Lions. Barnett, who was particularly impressive in pre-season games, will return to his old club, Birkalla, in Adelaide.

The third youngster who might also have disappeared from the Canberra scene was Andrew Young. He's now back in the youth squad and has decided to "stick it out."

Burke in demand

"Don't panic, stay calm — this team will do the job," was Canberra Arrows' coach, Doug Collins' appeal to fans this week after the club's mediocre start to the 1984 season.

Last week Collins bid for Wollongong's Ray Vietstra — now he's chasing 28-year-old Englishman, Peter Burke, of Newcastle.

So, too, are several other NSL clubs, including such big spenders as Marconi and Sydney City.

In the meantime, in a bid to improve Canberra's performance, Collins wielded the axe last Sunday and dropped highly-regarded skipper Steve Bryant and scheming midfielder, Ian Gibson.

The Saints were always

Dez Marton, Robbie Slater and Peter Petkovski turned the Juve defence inside out.

The striking trio had acres of room up front. Their dominance was not reflected on the scoreboard so no doubt coach Frank Arok wouldn't have been too happy with the one goal scored by defender David Ratcliffe after 36 minutes.

Marton, Slater and Pet-kovski constantly switched across the front line, confusing the Juve defenders.

Young Juve full back Joe Cecere probably had a sore neck after the game, such were the many occasions he had to turn around to see where Marton was. Marton gave a superb display of running off the ball and into open space, not to mention the devaster-looker exchanged with his team mates.

Petkovski did the same to Juve's other inexperienced defender Paul Shillabeer, who failed to mark his opponent effectively.

Coach Edmund Kreft took some time to make vital moves in defence. But when they did come late in the second half, it was far too late.

And while Juve did send one or two scares through the St George camp late in the second, generally its strikers made no impression.

Even Joe Mullen, the only South Australian in Arok's national squad of 40, couldn't justify his selection.

In this match, St George had the weaponry but not the killer instinct. It should have killed off Juve much earlier and in a more emphatic way.

As for Juve's disillusioned supporters, they went home wondering whether it was all worth the $5.

The local gallery — and no doubt the supporters who faithfully turned up — had tried to fathom the N's reasoning for the extra charge.

They were naturally angry.
After all, there was no prior warning. In fact, Juve officials learned about it only on the Friday before the game!

Considering the standard of no way even $4 represents value for

PENRITH HANGS ON

Penrith 2
Brisb. City 0

Score: Hale 15th and 56th
Venue: Cook Park
Referee: Richard Lorenz 8

If there was any luck going, it belonged to host team Penrith City which managed a few narrow escapes in the closing stages of a match which it had under control for at least the first hour.

A goal in each half from 18-year-old local boy David Hale was the difference between the sides.

There was a noticeable lack of interruption from the whistle of Richard Lorenz and the game flowed smoothly, with action at both ends throughout.

Penrith went about its business methodically with Ian Hunter in a determined mood and looking the part more than in recent matches. He was always looking for openings and gave the Brisbane City defence a few headaches.

Hunter made a great run in the 19th minute, found Brian Jackson free and the former Macclesfield striker put through a long ball to the far post which David Hale was one hand to turn nicely into the net.

But despite the loss of Wright, Lions gave a brilliant display of commitment that had City back-peddling the entire game. In fact one stage City passed the ball continually along its backline, devoid of ideas or opportunities to go forward as Lions relentlessly shut down every opening.

And a new star emerged to take over from Wright.

Brisbane's only real danger man up front, Gary Bromfield, bution to the game with his

But Penrith was able to go two up in the 56th minute when a low cross from Brian Jackson was met by Hale whose weak shot looked like going wide but instead, to the surprise of most, hit the inside of the post and trickled over the line.

Brisbane marched steadily towards the Penrith goal in the closing stages as the home side lost the services of both Jackson and Hale and the visitors brought on two extra strikers.

Daunt was a man possessed and ran confidently at the City defence, firing not only dangerous shots but spraying perfect passes to his team mates.
Daunt's first goal was one of the best scored in Brisbane this season.

He was set up by a searching crossfield ball from Lions captain John Stewart which split the City defence. Daunt found himself in metres of space and only City keeper

Substitute Mengotti tested Freeman with a strong shot after 70 minutes and Brom-side netting with his own effort.

Frank Liddell came up for every cross and corner and his header in the 74th minute hit the crossbar.

Attempts by Cotton and the never tiring Waterspoon kept Penrith in the picture, but it was only the trusty left boot of Mickey Cross which stood between Gary Bromfield and a deserved goal in the final seconds of injury time. The shot was hit firmly enough, but Cross was able to get back in time to boot off the line.

Neither side produced anything really special. Watterprise, while Daley and McIntosh have the defence well marshalled.

more luck could have shared the points.

Lions' second did not come until three minutes and it was a goal that delighted the whole team. It came from a free kick they had been practising at training for weeks.

Daunt and McDonagh began the move in off-side position,

Marconi celebrated its second win of the season, at the expense of lack-lustre George Cross, to give those 743 hardened Marconi supporters something to talk about.

David Lowe bagged three,
Tommy McCulloch two and Mark Jankovics one in a match which Marconi could have won by a cricket score.
In fact had Marconi pushed just & little harder and had its strikers scored from the chances created, Marconi could have "declared" at half time, giving George Cross no chance of overhauling the score.

George Cross came in with the intent of stopping Marconi, rather than winning points.
With four at the back and four across the middle and only McGorian and Latif up front, the game was destined to be played inside the visitors' half of the field. The spate of late tackles which went on in the opening minutes failed to help
George Cross.

Norrie Pate received a yellow card for a late tackle on Mariani early, then McLaren dropped Rod Brown after nine minutes.

A free kick by Mariani, a nudge to McCulloch and a blistering left-footer was deflected Past Contini for Marconi's first goal.

From then on it was one-way traffic, with Craig Mason, Marconi's new acquisition from Newcastle KB, directing traffic with enormous help

David Lowe

from an ever-alert Tommy McCulloch.

Marconi's inept finishing saw three great goal-scoring chances go begging before David Lowe made it 2-0.

First it was Mariani who seemed to lose control with the goal at his mercy, then Rod Brown missed two easy chances in quick succession.

However, with 11 minutes to go in the first half, it was Peter Sharne, back at his speedy best, who deceived a defender before pushing a low ball to David Lowe to crash one home on the turn.

Mick McGorian was carried off the field after a clash with Steve Calderan and Carl Gilder came on for George Cross. It was an unfortunate incident, which resulted in a strained ligament, and not broken leg as feared at first.

Seconds after resumption Marconi assumed a winning lead with a superb goal by Lowe.

Craig Mason to McCulloch to Lowe and a great shot from just inside the areas gave Con-tini no chance.

George Cross made a spirited comeback after the interval but despite McLaren's fine header from a corner by Latif which gave 'Cross its only goal, it was only a matter of time before Marconi would score again.

A throw-in from Sharne and a quick flick pass by Brown put McCulloch on the run home.

Man of the Match:
DAVID LOWE
(Marconi)

His shot from an angle and some 14 metres away was one of the best seen at Marconi Stadium. Then, with five minutes remaining, McCulloch was in the thick of things again, providing Mark Jankovics with an opportunity to make it 5-1.

Dispirited George Cross made yet another blunder in the closing stages, with Steve Richardson fouling McCulloch behind play inside his own penalty area and after consultation with the linesman, Jim Reeves awarded Marconi a penalty and sent Richardson of the park.

The penalty was converted by Lowe to make it 6-1.

It was a heart-warming performance by Marconi and most of the credit must go to Mason, McCulloch and Lowe, while the rest did what was required to subdue the below-par George Cross. Particularly pleasing was the performance of Ricky Rhinji at left back, while up front Sharne is fast approaching his peak. The notable appearance of Jankovics showed just how valuable this player is to Marconi.

He struck with five minutes to go but almost had his first touch of the ball. His fierce drive from an angle grazed the upright with Con-tini well beaten.

It is a welcome return to the winning circle for an out-of-luck Les Scheinflug. He will now find himself with the happy poser — who to, leave out with so many good players on the side-line, ready to come back, particularly Jankovics.

Miranda has a point to prove

Richard Miranda is out to prove a few people at Preston Makedonia wrong.

"I didn't really get a fair go there," said the 21 year old midfielder, bought by Juventus from Box Hill earlier this year.

"If I establish myself as a NSL player, I think I will have proven a point to a few people."

Juve's early season success hasn't come as a surprise to the South African.

"I'm not a bit surprised. We've got good players at the club. We're getting to know each other and once we get our full squad available we'll be even stronger. Joe Sweeney, Fab Incantalupo, Paul Drinoczky and Vince Bannon all have to come back. That's going to put tremendous pressure on each player to perform well. It's also going to add to the competitiveness at training."

"You need 11 good players to win a game but to win a championship you need a good squad of about 16 or 17."

"Commitment is vitally important. I heard people say after we beat South Melbourne Hellas that the Juventus players wanted to win more than the Hellas players did."

Richard Miranda (centre) about to tackle Charlie Egan of South Melbourne Hellas.

There might be some truth in that. I believe that if we can go out each week totally committed, then with the lot of natural ability in the side, we'll be up there at the end of the season."

No-one can doubt Miranda's commitment. Box Hill coach Bill Murray knows that.

"I used to get deputations from players at training asking me to instruct Richard to stop going in so hard for the ball," said Murray.

Miranda is a fierce competitor. But his game isn't just about winning the ball in midfield. He also has fine disposal and can be deadly from free kicks.

"I'm an aggressive player. I think every player should be. But I always go for the ball. I've never gone over the ball when tackling. In fact, there's no way that I ever could do that. It's simply not in my make-up. But I always was taught that if you go into a tackle in a half-hearted fashion then you run the risk of getting hurt."

Miranda played with Wits University in South Africa. He trained with English club Charlton as a teenager and was offered a contract. But, as Alan Davidson and George Christopoulos found out, getting a work permit in Britain is no easy matter. When Miranda couldn't get a work permit, he gave up all hope of making it in England and took up Preston Makedonia's offer. That was midway through the 1981 season.

Miranda switched to Box Hill early last year for a $4,000 transfer fee. He was one of the outstanding midfielders in the Victorian State League last season but he wanted to further his career and jumped at the chance to join Juventus and have a second stab at NSL soccer.

"Box Hill's a great club with a tremendous administration. When they get into the National League they'll do very well. Their coaching staff is first rate."

Miranda didn't set the world on fire during his early games with Juventus in the Buffalo Gold Summer Cup. Perhaps the key to his early form was that coach John Margaritis, battling to overcome injuries, used Miranda in defence.

"I prefer to play in midfield but honestly speaking, I'll play anywhere in a winning team. I'll even go into goals, if John Margaritis asks me."

But after Miranda's recent performances, there's little chance of that happening. Margaritis will be hoping that Miranda continues to propel the black and whites out of

Dowie's all class

John Dowie, 28, belongs to a rare breed of players currently playing in the National League.

Dowie was the Fulham substitute in the 1975 English F.A. Cup final won 2-0 by West Ham. He also played in the Glasgow Celtic side that went down 2-1 to arch rival Glasgow Rangers in the 1978 Scottish League Cup final.

Few British players in Australian soccer can boast such an impressive pedigree.

And Dowie's class has shown so far for Juventus, making the club's $7,000 outlay, in order to sign him from Doveton this year, seem a more pittance.

Don't be fooled by his slim build. Dowie also is a fierce tackler and a good ball winner.

Doveton fans know this. It was Dowie who played a vital part in Doveton's successful bid to avoid relegation from the Victorian State League in 1982. He arrived from Scotland in time to play in the last seven league games of that season and immediately won many admirers.

Sean Keogh shows his agility in rising high to punch the ball clear.

Keogh best

"We'll definitely finish in the top old Sean Keogh."

The Juventus goalkeeper, brother-in-law of Juventus coach John Margaritis this year, has terminated to establish himself in the No. 1 goalkeeping spot in the team.

"I think that other keepers would be ahead of me for this coming season. I've had them been available. show people what I can do."

"It's in my own hands."

Keogh has played for Victoria at levels. He first was picked in the current South Melbourne Hellas for a game against New Zealand last year. Keogh sat on the bench throughout.

Keogh was born in England. He when he was three and his first club was Vale City, in the Victorian Metro League. He stayed with South Melbourne for a few months with South Melbourne. He before joining Doveton for a two years.

"Croydon was a great club social well there but I found it hard to get cause Mick Edwards (now with Norwood) was a lot more experienced than me. At many clubs around who are willing to keep a go."

Keogh joined Doveton early in

Ward—a walking disaster

Gary Ward is Juve's most accomplished NSL scorer. He had 30 NSL and National Cup goals to his name before last Sunday's clash with Newcastle Rosebud United.

He scored 26 goals for Makedonia in 1980, as that club won the Victorian State League championship, and was signed by Juventus this year.

Ward and Juve fans no doubt are hoping that the talented striker's injury jinx has ended. Ward, 27, has had to recover from a broken skin, broken ankle, two broken noses, two cartilages, a slipped disc and three shoulder dislocations during his playing career.

Ward joined English club Crewe Alexandra as a 16-year-old. He was there for two years then joined Vancouver Whitecaps in the North American Soccer League.

After APLA Lechhardt failed to sign Ward, Makedonia stepped in and he was wearing its colors in the 1979 season. He came on as a half-time substitute in his first game for Makedonia and scored two goals.

That's the name of Ward's game — goals. Juve fans are finding that out.

State League debut there after a couple of games that season.

"I'll never forget my first game for Doveton. I had a shocker. I let in four goals in the first half against Green Gully Ajax and was taken off at half time.

But Keogh fought back, eventually becoming the No 1 keeper with the Doves.

He was selected in "Soccer Action's" 1983 State League Team of the Year. His 18 votes placed him seven ahead of his nearest challenger.

The lure of NSL soccer proved too much for Keogh this year.

"Even if I wasn't a regular at Juventus, I knew the time must eventually come when I would get my chance and I knew that I'd have to take it."

However, Gary Clayton's departure from Juve made Keogh's task easier.

"But I can't afford to relax for a minute. Any day now, Juventus could get George Martin's clearance from Romania fixed up and if I have a bad game, then George will be in goal."

Keogh's reflexes and disposal by hand are the strongest features of his game. He wants to improve in the air and would like to be more consistent with goalkeeping. He also thinks that he should call earlier to his fellow defenders.

Most experts consider that goalkeepers peak between the ages of 30 and 35. That means that Keogh has a lot of time left in which to achieve his goals.

Joe Sweeney

SWEENEY BACK IN ACTION THIS WEEK?

Joe Sweeney is expected to return from Scotland this week.

The Juventus striker has been back in his native Scotland for family reasons for the past few weeks.

Sweeney, 26, joined Juventus this year from State League club Croydon for $8,000.

He's a former Crystal Palace schoolboy. He played for Tenants, an amateur club in Scotland after leaving Palace and from there he joined Pollok, where his scoring feats alongside current Falkirk coach Gus Macleod are legend.

Sweeney then switched to Patrick Thistle, then to Clydebank. He had stints in Sweden and America before rejoining Pollok then finally coming to Croydon last year. He played for Fort Lauderdale Strikers while in the U.S.

With the exception of his short stay at Croydon, Sweeney has been leading scorer with every club he's played for. No doubt, Juve fans will be hoping that he maintains his great scoring record this season.

Six past stars won top awards

Many great players proudly have worn the black and white colors of Brunswick Juventus since the club's foundation in 1948.

Juve has had countless Victorian representatives and quite a few Soccerroos, including Jack Reilly, Tommy McColl, Billy Vojtek and Sandy Irvine as well as present day players Billy Rogers and Fabio Incantalupo.

And six of Juve's finest have won league best and fairest awards — Mario Busidoni, George Scott, Vojtek, Mick Watkins, Bobby McGuinness and Vince Bannon.

Busidoni and Scott won the Argus Medal in 1955 and 1965 respectively. The Bill Fleming Medal was won by Vojtek in 1975 and by Watkins in 1977. McGuinness won the Rothmans Medal in 1980 and Vince Bannon won it in 1982.

One of the greats of Juve's early era was captain Reno Carollo. Pepe Cubero was a superstar with Juve in the 1950's.

Other Juventus greats over the years include Sergio Bassi, Enzo Costa, Vida Kassai, Giuseppe Sabidussi, Frank Barbazza, Rocky Frangioni, Geoff Tumblyn, Mario Corti, Dino De Marchi, George Kinnell, Jock Goodwin, Bobby Thomson and Pat Della Rocca.

NEWS Brunswick and whites win title?

Will Juventus win the championship this year, John?

"Look, don't talk to me about championships. How can I possibly predict anything like that? Who knows?"

"I hadn't planned to win the title this year. Just let's say that we're ahead of schedule right now."

"But make no mistake about this. We are a good National League team."

Margaritis was one of the finest players ever to come to Australia. He played for PAOK Salonika in his native Greece before joining South Melbourne Hellas in the 1960's.

Margaritis was player-coach of Heidelberg Alexander in 1968 and 1969 and embarked upon a professional coaching career in 1974 when he was appointed coach of South Melbourne Hellas. Margaritis also has coached West Adelaide Hellas. He joined Juventus for the start of the 1983 season, guiding the club to a third placed finish in the Victorian State League. And he recently was appointed as assistant to national coach Frank Arok, further enhancing Margaritis' reputation as a shrewd judge of playing talent.

"At the end of last season I thought that about six of our players were definite National League material. I knew that to do well, we had to buy."

Joe Sweeney, Sean Keogh, Gary Ward, Richard Miranda and John Dowie joined the club earlier this year and last Friday, ex-Patrick Thistle player, 23 year old Eddie Campbell, flew in from Scotland.

"In the Buffalo Gold Summer Cup, I was forced to play players out of position. Even then, I wasn't happy with some of the new players but I knew their qualities and I knew that they would eventually do well for us. It's just a matter of getting the right blend. That takes time.

"Ward and Sweeney didn't look sharp during the Buffalo Gold Summer Cup. But they're a lot sharper now. Anyway, I covered that situation by using the speed and mobility of Andrew Zinni and Rob Cullen out wide. Cullen is a very, very fit and aggressive player. No other player could do the job I want Cullen to do. Actually, I ask a bit too much from him, but I know how big this player's heart is. He is one of the most professional and honest players I have come across."

"I never had any doubts about Billy Rogers doing well as a stopper. Billy has given me so much over the years. In fact, I owe a lot to him throughout my coaching career. Australian soccer should pay tribute to this man who has given so much to the game in this country."

Perhaps Margaritis' master stroke has been the switch of John Dowie to sweeper. Bought as a class midfielder from Doveton, Dowie has revelled in his sweeper's role.

"I didn't think that Dowie would enjoy playing sweeper to be honest. But when he played there against Heidelberg in a friendly which we won 3-0, I saw just how right he was for the position. Dowie is a complete professional. His technique and intelligence is unmatched in Australian soccer and he has a huge future here as a sweeper."

Margaritis heaps even greater praise upon midfielder Miranda.

"He shines like a diamond. He's learning every day and if he can be consistent and continues to develop, he'll play for Australia."

Kevin Swinscoe, who was rumored to be leaving Juventus earlier this year, is another who has pleased Margaritis.

"Kevin thought that if we had our full squad available, he wouldn't get a regular game. But he's been given the chance to play and he's done very, very well for us. He's a brilliant character and has a first class professional attitude."

At the start of the season, Margaritis had three goalkeepers all vying for the number one spot in his team. One of them, George Martin, still is waiting on a clearance from Romania. Another, Gary Clayton, is up for transfer. Keogh at present is the number one choice.

"Keogh is good. He's young but already he has played for Victoria. George Martin also is good. I had to make my mind up between Gary and George and I thought that George was the better goalkeeper."

"Young Frank Geramia has done a great job during Vince Bannon's absence through injury. He's an absolutely great character. He's a real devil during a game but he's very quiet off the park. He's a very dedicated kid and he's proven himself recently."

"Harry Hird does a lot more than people give him credit for. He's very skilful and he puts a lot of class into our team. He's a natural at left back."

"Andrew Zinni will score goals for Juventus. I know this. To be honest, I wasn't exactly happy with him earlier this year but he's doing well now and I just know that he can do even better. He's a top player. His skills are brilliant, he's smart and he's full of confidence."

Margaritis too is confident. You just have to dig deep to find it if you are a journalist. It's not that the man isn't approachable. Quite the opposite. It's just that he plays it close to his heart.

Maybe he'll open up at about 5 pm on Sunday, October 7. That's the date of the last NSL round for 1984. And what a story he'll have to tell if Brunswick Juventus wins the championship of the National Conference!

Kuringai is pin arms

It is not often that a side loses by four goals and then sends in a complaint about the refereeing, but that is exactly what happened following Kuringai's 2-6 loss to Inter Monaro in Canberra last weekend.

In fact, this is not the first time that a side has come back from Monaro claiming that poor refereeing has marred the match.

Kuringai intends to file a report on the referee.

"Not that the result might have been a lot different had the referee been better, but it leaves visitors like Kuringai with a sour taste after having led 2-0 and 2-1 to lose a player and then battle with 10 players against 11. "We were outclassed but only after we got outnumbered and all because of an error by the referee," said a disgruntled Kuringai official.

In the first round, Auburn suggested that the refereeing in Canberra left a lot to be desired.

However, both Auburn and Kuringai officials agree that Inter Monaro is one hell of a side and certainly the team to beat this year — particularly down south in the national capital.

Walter Valeri, Sebastian Giampolo and Angelo Ambrosino are in great touch and are certain to have their new side in the semis this year.

Bankstown 4 Polonia 0

Scorers: Dolton, El Hosseini, Hassan 2.

BANKSTOWN NATIONAL: Giffin, Kennedy, Meerbach, Agostino, Cootes, Dolton, Parker, Blackburn, Hennes (Hassan 65'), El Hosseini, Hasnic (Blackwell 50').

POLONIA: Barker, Colusso (Jordan), Hanafi, Vanderberg, Galas, Fogarty, Garlowski, Kowalczyk, Thomas (Pratt), Lumsdale, Sobczyk.

For all but the opening half hour, Bankstown held the upper hand and looked the likely winner. Polonia held on for the first half hour, employing its inside trap for those fast running Bankstown forwards, but once Phil Dolton made it 1-0 it was all downhill for Bankstown National.

It was Hennes who made the opening for the first goal and his chip found Phil Dolton close to goal. Ian Barker made a valiant attempt but to no avail.

With two minutes remaining Dolton was involved in a move with Hasnic which provided El Hosseini with an opening. He ran around the keeper then tapped it into the net for Bankstown's second.

Despite Bankstown's territorial advantage, goals did not come again till very late in the match. With only six minutes to play El Hosseini passed a pass from Agostino to run past a couple of players before providing Peter Hassan with an opportunity to beat Barker from 18 metres with a well measured drive.

With a minute left out, Peter Hassan picked up a pass in midfield then stroled through Polonia's defence before scoring his second goal and Bankstown's fourth.

Last year's wooden spooner certainly is not going to be anywhere near that spot this year and the impression given so far indicates a strong possibility of National getting into the top five, maybe even the top four. Its crowd support certainly has improved and its soccer on the Park is pleasing to say the least.

Aub Uruguay 2 Avala 1

Scorers: Bateman 1 (Avala); O'Shane 2 (Aub.U.).

AVALA: Thurlow, Lucchessi, D. McKenna, Bartolo, C. McKenna, Burows (Nitya 12'), Kodor, Williams, Rodriguez (27' J. Fernandez), Bateman, Milne.

AUBURN: Rosano, Kelly, Geekie, Watt, Planinic, Jones, Carney, Akinos (62' BObanic), Townson, Knight, O'Shane.

Avala left Knight Park a little worse for wear but certainly flattered by the result. Auburn led by two goals and looked set to tear its opponent apart.

Then came an error by Rosano and Bateman collected the softest of goals to give Avala a chance of snatching a draw. For a while Avala came forward and looked as if it might just do that, but within 10 minutes Auburn had assumed command again.

It could have been so different had Richie Williams scored from the penalty spot in the 17th. Bateman was pushed down by Rosano inside the area and Williams, purchased from Melita during the week, took the spot kick. He failed to find the target and Avala was punished for it.

Only 10 minutes later, Carney's corner from the right hand side found Planinic above everyone to head against the crossbar but Tony O'Shane picked up the rebound to head it back into the net.

After 50 minutes O'Shane was on the mark again. Stephen Knight, Auburn's star player on the day, took the free kick well outside the area. His chip found Chris Townson. His header followed and O'Shane was on the spot to hammer it home.

Steve Knight, Craig Jones and Tony O'Shane had outstanding games for the winners while young Lucchessi was Avala's best.

Canterbury 1 Warr. Narabene 0

Scorers: Joannides 40'.

HANTS: Anagnostopoulos, Antonopoulos, Flenab, Petas, Phillips, Joannides.

WARRINGAH: P. Dean, Sarge, Collins, Yennie, Hiscok, Henley (MacDonald), Sandiner (McDonnell), Taylor, Bullock, Rimmer, A. Dean.

Canterbury continued to show good form and outplayed Warringah at Arlington to keep in third place on the League ladder but for coach John Xipellitis this result is still a long way to go before Canterbury can be recognised as a real title challenger.

John Petas missed on four occasions when it was easier to score. In the end a goal five minutes from half time by Joannides decided the issue.

Canterbury's star striker Louis Douinis was missing from the line-up. He was sadly missed.

Manly Warr 1 Sutherland 1

Scorers: Leak (M), Webber (S).

MANLY: Cassattari, Pagano, S. Dick, J. Dick, Doyle, Jones, Stevens, P. Falconer, Holloway, Leak (McDonald), Webber, Rogers.

SUTHERLAND: Dart, Hasford, Terry, Schumann, Delforno, Harrington (Grey), Johnston, Stoddart, Groome, Webster, Rogers.

In a very competitive, entertaining match at Cromer Park the two sides shared the spoils and you couldn't find anyone that would complain about the result.

In fact the game provided the best spectacle seen for some time and if goals did not come it largely was due to some great goalkeeping by both goal tenders, Cassattari and Dart.

For Sutherland supporters it was time to sing: "We have an Australian keeper in the making." As Dart flung himself across goal to produce some brilliant saves.

Following in the footsteps of Alan Maher (later Marconi) and the national team, and Mal Haynes, this young keeper has certainly left his mark in the opening rounds of the State League.

In its quest for a place in the NSL, Sutherland has unearthed a young striker from Bondi who has given a run during the second period in place of Harrington. Grey should prove an asset to Sutherland.

As for the home side, well, a goal behind at half time and with some problems to sort out, it came out fighting and did get on top which resulted in a goal by Steve Leak, which in the end did satisfy those in the know at Manly.

Saturday: Warringah v Bankstown National, Narabene Fitness Centre.

first two rounds. In fact Yugal was a pretty willing opponent but lacked attacking polish to match its enthusiasm.

For Rockdale, Slaveski took a corner kick after an hour and Risteovski headed it past Berry to make it 1-0 and that was enough to subdue Yugal.

Ilija Takac, the ex-Yugal player and presently the coach of Rockdale Ilinden, praised Yugal and suggested that a draw would have been a fair result.

Despite the fact that Rockdale had a chance to increase its lead to 2-0 through Trajanovski, Yugal had its own chances through Tanovski and Thammides but failed to convert and left the field, still the only side without points this season.

Inter Monaro 6 Kuringai 2

Scorers: Giampolo 2, Ambrosino 2, Valeri, Willis (IM), Bass, Tracy Pen. (K).

INTER MONARO: Hoeking, Leake, Clarke, Santolo, Francis, Willis, Monarova (Popovic 75'), Ambrosino, Djordjeovski, Valeri, Giampolo.

KURINGAI: Lacey, Bennett, Watson, Bartram, Mortlock, Quigley, Dene, (77' Bourke), Tracey, Jeffery, Bass (Seach 83'), Hunter.

"We were robbed," claimed Kuringai officials after the match at Bruce Stadium, which was won by Inter Monaro but not after a great deal of controversy.

Leading 2-1 and doing well, Kuringai looked poised to cause an upset, but the referee sent off 20 year old David Bennett, allegedly for persistent infringement of the rules (7) and the visitors duly collapsed.

Kuringai claimed that Bennett has never been booked, let alone sent off in his career.

"Who knows what would have happened, had David stayed on the Park. But since his departure, an obvious error by the referee, we had no chance against this strong Inter Monaro side," said a Kuringai official.

Kuringai shocked Inter with two goals in the opening 20 minutes.

First it was Craig Bass who converted after a good run by Neil Hunter, then came a disallowed goal by Bass in the 17th.

Only two minutes later Glen Jeffery was pulled from behind inside the area and this time the referee had no option but to award a penalty, converted by Andy Tracey.

Sebastian Giampolo pulled one back in the 28th minute then came the dismissal of Bennett.

During the second period a procession of goals followed with Giampolo making it 2-2 three minutes into the second half. Ambrosino's scorcher gave Monaro the lead after 54 minutes following a free kick by Giampolo, then Walter Valeri got onto the score sheet after a cross by Monterosso in the 71st minute.

Kuringai then missed two easy opportunities to get on the board with Jeffery and Bass combining in the 74th, then Bass again coming very close but his shot went wide.

Billy Willis headed Monaro's fifth following a corner kick from the right hand side, then with seven minutes to go came the goal of the game. Ambrosino's piffler from the edge of the box rocketed past the keeper and broke the net at Bruce Stadium.

KAT'S CORNER
with PETER KATHOLOS

Greeks safe, Bobby tops

With Newcastle KB United folding, there has been speculation about problems facing other clubs.

It's been mentioned that Olympic has a large debt and while that's true, let me say loudly and clearly that there is no way Olympic ever will fold.

The potential of the club, as far as sponsorship and fund-raising are concerned, is immense, and there are just too many wealthy Greeks around to allow the team of the Sydney Greek community to go down the drain.

With the side playing well this year, and aiming for glory, our gate takings should be better than ever.

Besides receiving plenty of publicity in the Greek press, Olympic also has six-figure sponsorship from the Greek Variety Show on Channel 10, and therefore gets valuable exposure through television.

Also, Puma Australia believes in the potential of Olympic to such an extent that we've got the honor of being the only side sponsored by this great sports goods company.

Fund-raising, dances, discos and barbecues should be a huge success this year, particularly since we're winning games and playing well, so I can't see any problems ahead for Olympic.

McLachlan, top coach

I was extremely disappointed to hear that Footscray J.U.S.T. sacked its coach, Bobby McLachlan last week.

Back in 1978, Bobby was the coach and sole selector of the Australian schoolboys team that toured North America, and I was lucky enough to be picked, along with Eddie Krncevic, George Christopoulos, Charlie Yankos, Tony Pezzano, Greg Woodhouse, Danny Moulis, Paul Kay, Ian Hunter, Peter Raskopoulos, Malcolm McClelland, John Spanos and others.

On the tour, we beat the Canadian youth team 2-1, the USA youth team 2-0 and a Californian select team 10-1, and since then, the players McLachlan chose have become some of the leading names in the sport.

McLachlan has proved his ability so often over the years, so I think J.U.S.T. made a big mistake in letting him go.

Blacktown's Phil O'Connor is to have a cartilage operation and he'll be out of action for maybe a month. We wish him a swift recovery.

It'll be some fight for the goalkeeping honors in the NSL this season.

Last year, it was a two-way battle between Doug Brown (Hellas) and Marshall Soper (Olympic), but quite a few others will be involved this year.

There's Frank Fariza of Canberra, Joe Sweeney of Juventus, and Steve Winn of Heidelberg, for example, and I'm going to give it a nudge as well, now that I've been moved to the forward line.

The $1000 prize from Boral Bricks, through "Soccer Action" is, of course, an incentive for all of us.

Happy fans pose a threat

Much has been said lately about the behaviour of certain crowd elements at soccer, always referring to the "nasties".

However, problems can arise even when there isn't the slightest element of malice present.

Specifically, I refer to some Melbourne venues, such as Middle Park, where crowd invasions take place with a regularity which invites inquiries into the lack of any noticeable action by the NSL or the home clubs involved.

Just on the law of averages, it is only a matter of time before a child gets injured in the mass invasions of pitches which seem to occur after almost every goal scored by the host club.

Neither the home club, nor the referees, nor the NSL are doing anything to put an end to this dangerous practice which seems to become more prevalent each week.

It's dangerous, could lead to some nasty legal wrangles and does nothing for the promotion of soccer as a professional entertainment on television.

N FOCUS

Time something was done about it.

R.I.P. KB United

Rest in peace KB United, it was nice while it lasted.

But, there is more than that to Newcastle's demise — a lot of very awkward questions remain to be answered.

For instance, what sort of people were in charge of the Newcastle operation, who decided to kick off the 1984 season, in spite of being fully aware of the club's precarious financial position?

What sort of screening procedures are in place for NSL membership each season?

Why is it that the ASF, which is the responsible body when it comes to the composition of the National League, wasn't aware of United's plight?

And if it was, why didn't it act? How can a team which drops out of the league be replaced by a brand new outfit during the season?

How can such a new team be allowed to "take over" the record of the team which is now defunct?

Has there ever been a precedent for such unorthodox occurrences anywhere else, anytime in world soccer?

With Peter Scott

Smelling a rat

Have you noticed the carryings on lately about the inefficiencies of the NSL, as compared with the shining record of achievements — yes, I have my tongue firmly planted in my cheek — of the ASF?

Mathematics that a section of the media has been put up to this, and it's not helping soccer climb out of the hole dug for it by its own amateur politicians over the years.

Besides, people who live in glass houses...

Back at the top

Footballers' lives are full of ups and downs and none has exemplified this more than Sydney Olympic's Peter Katholos.

Unloved and unwanted by his club — and seemingly anyone else for that matter — just a few weeks ago, "Soccer Action's" favorite son has come back with a vengeance.

Not only has he forced his way back into his coach Manfred Scher's favor, but Kath has also caught the eye with a series of spectacular goals in recent matches.

Fawkner's trip to Ralph Reserve on Saturday won't be plain sailing. Suburbs should have completed the signing of Andy Bozakis from Fawkner in time to allow him to face his former team mates.

Suburbs certainly can't be taken lightly. They've surprised me this year. After watching them twice in the Buffalo

By CRAIG MACKENZIE

Cup I thought that at best a middle of the table finish was what they could expect. Right now, they are looking like top four candidates.

Ged Stenson has been grabbing the limelight at Suburbs in recent weeks. His battle against aggressive Fawkner centre half Frank Macleod on Saturday should be a match highlight.

Green Gully Ajax and Melbourne Croatia learned over the past few seasons, how discomforting it can be to travel to Croydon Park. It's Polonia's turn to face up to the confines of that venue on Sunday.

The outcome of tonight's (Wednesday's) VSF investigation of a video tape of the recent brawl during the Fawkner-Polonia match last month, could have a major bearing on this match. Should the VSF decide to act, and quickly, two Polonia players may have charges to answer arising out of the unruly scenes which erupted when a spectator clashed with Polonia's David Culpin. Yet it's Polonia who can win its first game of the league season on Saturday against Albion Rovers at Selwyn Park. If Doveton can't beat undermanned Albion, then it's a definite bottom four candidate.

Peter Desira and Les Shorrock have been fighting for the past few days over which one will cover this match for us

Shorrock won. Desira is covering the match.

Morwell Falcons must beat Knox at North Criggin Reserve on Saturday. Falcons coach Jimmy Dunne has heard the rumors linking Bobby MacLachlan with Falcons. Jimmy, like me, doesn't for one minute believe these rumors.

Don't worry Jimmy. In another two weeks we Bobby's name will have been linked with a dozen clubs.

Wilhelmina throws it away!

Knox City 2
Wilhelmina 2

Score: House 83rd, 90th (WC); Wells 57th, Adams 81st (W).
Venue: Egan Lee Reserve.

This was a match Wilhelmina should have won after leading 2-0 with only nine minutes left, and playing against 10 men!

Knox City's player-coach Eric Lesbirel was given his marching orders by ref Lou Hemmes in the 80th minute, but Greg House salvaged a point for his team with two opportunistic goals, scoring the equalizer in the last minute of ordinary time.

Mark Wells opened the scoring for Wilhelmina in the 57th

Wilhelmina went further ahead following a Paul Corke freekick, which found Graeme Kent, whose low cross was

Lesbirel made a double substitution in the 75th minute, replacing Martin Wild (one of Knox's better players in the first half) and Billy Brindle with himself and Nigel Murray.

Five minutes later, Lesbirel was sent off for already striking Wilhelmina's most prominent player, Barry Burton.

Instead of giving up the struggle, Knox fought back with venom, and was rewarded three minutes later when House pounced on a loose ball and scored.

The same player hit the upright in the 88th minute, the chance arising from some careless play by Corke, who lost the ball when he had plenty of time to get rid of it.

Just on full time, House equalised, a goal hotly disputed by Wilhelmina, claiming offside. Certainly it was a close decision, on the other hand, Wilhelmina should never have been at risk. It just stopped playing!

PRZYBYLA WINS IT

Polonia 1
Morwell F.O.

Score: Przybyla 60th.
Venue: Raleigh Reserve.

The goal that decided this clash between title challengers Polonia and Morwell came after an unusual sequence of events in the 59th and 60th minutes.

Referee Dennis Voutsinas twice had warned Morwell stopper John Higham for tackles in the first half. Higham's third indiscretion came in the 59th minute when he tripped Janusz Przybyla just outside the Morwell area.

As Voutsinas struggled to get Morwell players back the required distance, Polonia player-coach John Gardiner quickly took the free kick, curling the ball with the outside of his right foot into the far left hand corner of the goal.

Voutsinas ordered a retake. Again, the referee struggled to push Morwell's defensive wall back. Finally, Voutsinas gave up, and allowed the free kick to be taken.

Gardiner rolled the ball to his left, to Przybyla, who curled a delightful shot into the top far corner for the decisive goal of the game.

From that moment on, the match opened up. Both teams had been extremely tentative for the first hour. Polonia was without suspended David Gibson, injured captain Ricky Li-piarski, Andrew Czapiak and Les Shorrock, while John Czapiak. Morwell initially looked like it had arrived at Raleigh Reserve well content to earn a point.

But Przybyla's superb goal changed all that.

A great Gardiner through ball in the 61st minute set Joe Tront, whose chip was saved in style by Morwell goalkeeper Bill Whiteside, who tipped the ball over the bar.

A moment later Morwell almost struck back.

Michael Fryszter, making his debut with Polonia in the absence of Mig Latak, who injured his ribs in a car crash on the weekend, fumbled a shot from Chris Kent. However, the ball was cleared off the line.

One of the best moves of the match came from Polonia in the 71st minute. A superb interpassing move involving Noel Mitten, Greg Czapiak, Przybyla, Mitten again and finally Przybyla, ended with Whiteside making a fine save at his near post from a Przybyla shot.

Minutes later Jim MacLean sent Steve Moore clear, wide on the right. Moore's near post cross was touched toward the far post by MacLean, who watched in dismay as the ball trickled agonisingly wide.

Bobby McGuinness was replaced in the 81st minute by Jack van Baar, a surprising move. McGuinness had been Morwell's only forward as Russell Athersych struggled in this match.

Just as surprising was Chris Kent's reluctance to take on young, inexperienced Polonia right back Claude Avian. Falcons kept taking long crosses into the Polonia area, a fruitless tactic when you compare the stature of Fryszter to that of McGuinness and Athersych.

worthwhile recording by Dinamo.

But in all honesty Culina is nowadays honest too much time complaining and burying his head in his hands for tackles and challenges that others accept as very much a part of the game.

Unfortunately on Saturday, referee Jim Fraser got sucked in by Culina's antics and booked two players, Frank Russell and Billy Hamill, for what to me looked like in noxious challenges on the former Victorian representative.

If Culina were to stop re-monstrating and start being a little more direct, both his own reputation and the side's would go up from where it lies at the moment - at the lowest ebb.

Culina would do well to take a lesson from the 58th minute, when he was out of the game for a foul on the side of Zdenko Brkjaicic - the only honest performer in a St Albans side that is top heavy and carrying too many passengers.

I make no bones of the fact that I've become a Desic fan. The youngster is showing a lot of endeavour going for the simple pass without trying to look spectacular and if only his play could improve could well fulfil the potential he showed at Croatia.

It was from Desic's corner kick that Dinamo took a shock lead after only five minutes with John Bruno heading the ball home.

But the lead was short-lived, mainly because Suburbs is a far more direct side although according to coach Jim Condis this was the team's worst performance of the season so far.

In Bill Lazopoulos, Condis has unearthed a youngster of undoubted potential and a nose for goals which Heidelberg coach Brian Garvey, scouting at the game, couldn't have helped notice.

Then he scored the goal of the game in the 58th minute swooping onto Ged Stenson's through ball to slot the ball past the advancing Danny Lacock with nonchalance, almost arrogant ease.

Metro Division One

WERRIBEE 1 (McNally 6th) NUUNAWADING CITY 4 (W. Greenwald 3rd, 78th, Furzer 26th, Mullett 75th) at Galvin Park, Saturday.

WERRIBEE: Dimopoulos, Mantello, Reardon, Kilpatrick, Di-Gioacchino, Murphy, Italia, McNeil, S. Bahaly, Gwosdz, Felton 11. Coach: P. Marshall.

NUUNAWADING CITY: Madjer, Brown, Senanika, Furzer, 1, Dean G. Van Leuven, N. Van Emmond Jr., J. Greenwald, Nyholt, S. P. C. (Mullett 45th), W. Greenwald. Coach: N. Van Emmond Sr.

Playing with the wind in the first half Nuunawading soon applied pressure to the Werribee defence and W. Greenwald opened the scoring when he chipped over Dimopoulos into the net.

In the 28th minute Furzer, Nuunawading 2-0 up when he met Van Emmond's free kick with a fierce header to give Dimopoulos no chance.

Werribee reduced the lead in the 47th minute. A fierce 30 metre shot was brilliantly parried by Madjer only to see McNally following up to blast home the rebound.

Eight minutes later Nuunawading put the match beyond doubt with a fine move. Van Emmond found W. Greenwald on the left and his accurate cross was met first time by Mullett who netted.

In the 78th minute W. Greenwald scored his second goal when Nyholt's through pass found him in the clear, and he sidestepped the keeper and netted from close range.

Metro Division Two

ELTHAM 2 (Norton 8th, Vanderslik 89th) CAULFIELD CITY 0 at North Eltham, Saturday.

ELTHAM: Carey 8, Alderson 8, M. Cirks 8, Lewis 8, DeLany 8, Woodward 8, Currie 8, Rayne 8, P. Cirks 8, Vanderslik 8, Norton 8. Coach: J. P. Carey.

CAULFIELD CITY: Petrou 6, Sakka 6, Tait 6, Vanderslik 6, Koullas 8, Blissett 7, Stamoulas 7, Koutas 8, Sidrolopoulos 7, Patsalos 8, Diamatris 8.

If this game had been a horse race the Redbacks would have been swabbed and an inquiry held, such was the improvement in their performance from the previous week.

The Redbacks did not allow the league leader to settle at any stage. Davy Norton put the home side ahead in the 8th minute when he intercepted a pass back by Sahinidis and netted from close in.

Norton and Vanderslik caused a lot of bother to the visitors and just on time Norton, who appeared to handle the ball, pushed it through to Vanderslik who hit a fierce shot into the net off the keeper's hands.

Prov Division Two

KYNETON 0 SOUTH DANDENONG 2 (Cornojo 19th, Bartlett 45th) at Kyneton, Saturday.

KYNETON: Manolis, Stafrace, Lombardi, Graetham, Bennett, Smith (M. Samuel 85th), Kully, Smith (M. Samuel 85th), Gossling 15. Odds 53/1.

SOUTH DANDENONG: Bravo, Romero, Ramos, Vega, Jimenez, Cornojo, Bartlett, Romero, Castillo, Angulo, Cid (J. Presta 45th). Best players: KYNETON: Great-

ham, Stafrace, Manolis; SOUTH DANDENONG: Jimenez, R. Romero, Ramos.

A short Bartlett corner to Angula whose cross found the Kyneton defence in all sorts of trouble led to the first goal, the home side ahead in the 19th minute when he sidestepped the keeper and netted.

Just on half-time Bartlett powered a solo run down the right to hammer an angled shot past Manolis.

'Juve' in the box seat

MANCHESTER UNITED (England) 1 JUVENTUS (Italy)
1. Scorers: Manchester United, Davies (36th minute); Juventus, Rossi (15). Halftime 1-1. Attendance 58,231.

MANCHESTER UNITED: Bailey, Duxbury, Albiston, McGrath, Moran, Hogg, Graham, Moses, Stapleton, Whiteside, Gidman (Davies).
JUVENTUS: Tacconi, Denelli, Cabrini, Bonini, Brio, Scirea, Pradelli, Tardelli, Rossi, Platini, Boniek.

Juventus held patched-up Manchester United to a 1-1 draw in Manchester, and now is hot favourite to win the second leg in Italy.

It was a brave performance by United, robbed of regular midfielders Bryan Robson and Ray Wilkins and Dutchman Arnold Muhren. And they might have travelled to Italy for the semi final return leg in two weeks' time a goal in front but for a remarkable miss by the normally reliable Frank Stapleton.

Italian World Cup hero Paulo Rossi plunged United into trouble after 14 minutes. Polish international Zbigniew Boniek set the talented striker free and his shot deflected past goalkeeper Gary Bailey off the boot of Graeme Hogg.

But United, despite its depleted side, refused to lie down and Alan Davies, playing his first match since United's FA Cup final win last May, scrambled the equaliser in the 35th minute when goalkeeper Stefano Tacconi failed to hold Norman Whiteside's snap shot.

United may rue Stapleton's miss. The Irish international, made captain for the night in the absence of Robson, found space less than three metres out but crashed his shot against the crossbar with the second half just 20 minutes old.

United was rocked after seven minutes when John Gidman was taken off injured and Davies came on to deputise.

'Golden Boot' Gomes

PORTO (Portugal) 1 ABERDEEN (Scotland) 0 in Oporto. Scorer: Porto — Gomes (14th minute). Halftime 1-0. Attendance 60,000.

PORTO: Ze Beto, João Pinto, Inacio, Lima Pereira, Eduardo, Luis, Jaime Magalhães, Frasco, Sousa, Gomes, Jaime Pacheco, Costa.

ABERDEEN: Jim Leighton, Stuart McKimmie, Doug Roughie, Neale Cooper, Alex McLeish, Willie Miller, Gordon Strachan, Eric Black, Mark McGhee, Neale Simpson, Doug Bell.

* Aberdeen put on a lacklustre performance but earned a good result by conceding only one goal to the unlucky Portuguese in their Cup winners' Cup semifinal.

The Scots did little to impress Porto's 60,000 capacity crowd, keeping well in defence throughout most of the match.

*Porto, whose tireless attacking and evident midfield skill failed to produce the handful of goals they deserved, scored in the 14th minute when Jaime Magalhães flicked a Costa corner to Gomes who headed in neatly home.

One minute later Gomes,

Europe's "Golden Boot," produced an almost identical header which Aberdeen goalkeeper Jim Leighton stretched full length to save.

And twice in the second half Gomes missed good scoring chances, the first when his shot was blocked by McLeish, the second when in the 75th minute he put a shot to one side of an open goal.

Aberdeen's only scoring chance of the first half came in the 41st minute when Mark McGhee forced Porto goalkeeper Ze Beto into a full length save.

International star Gordon Strachan failed to live up to his reputation and produced only a glimpse of his form at the end of the match when his 84th minute shot at goal took Beto by surprise.

In the second half Aberdeen manager Alex Ferguson brought on John Hewitt — who scored the winning goal in last year's final against Real Madrid — and Mitchell to replace Doug Bell and Doug Roughie and strengthen the Aberdeen attack.

EUROPEAN CUP

'Doping' charge by Roma

DUNDEE UNITED (Scotland) 2 ROMA (Italy) 0 in Dundee. Scorers: Dundee United, Dadds, Stark. Halftime 0-0. Attendance 20,543.

DUNDEE UNITED: McAlpine, Gough, Hegarty, Narey, Malpas: Stark, Bannan, Kirkwood: Sturrock, Dadds, Mine.

ROMA: Tancredi: Oddi, Righetti, Nela, Chierzo: Di Bartolomei, Maldera, Thoninho Cerezo: Conti, Pruzzo, Graziani.

AS Roma, pushed to the brink of a European Cup exit by Dundee United, last week, has fired the first shots in a smear campaign which could threaten the Scottish club's progress in the competition.

After United's 2-0 semi-final first leg victory at Tannadice Park in Dundee, the Italians accused United of using stimulants.

Roma president Dino Viola also questioned East German referee Siegfried Kirschner about whether UEFA carried out dope tests.

The allegations were seen by manager Jim McLean as "just the start" of intimidatory tactics designed to turn the volatile Italian crowd against United in the second leg in Rome's Olympic Stadium on April 25.

The United manager had nothing but contempt for the suggestion that the players were on stimulants and even the UEFA observer instantly dismissed the Roma claims.

McLean said with a wry smile: "I would like to find out which drug they are supposed to have been on — so that I can give them it every week. Seriously, though, UEFA is welcome to test whomever it wants whenever it wants."

The Romans, who arrived in Scotland as hot favourites to contest the European Cup final in their own Olympic stadium on May 30, were outplayed by Dundee for most of the game.

The Italians, typically tight at the back but so threatening up front, emerged unscathed from the first 45 minutes. But they fell under the charm of United, the so-called "Cinderella" outfit, in the second half.

Three minutes after the interval, United moved desperately ahead when striker David Dodds netted from close in after Eamon Bannon saw a ferocious shot blocked by Roma goalkeeper Tancredi.

With the much-vaunted Roma defence reeling, defender Derek Stark added the second on the hour with a ferocious drive from 30 metres which had Tancredi clawing clean air.

United manager McLean, understandably jubilant at the end, said: "We're just 90 minutes away from absolute glory. I was really proud of the players, we scored twice but deserved even more."

"I told them at half time that we were out of the competition the way things stood, and they might as well relax. They did just that and I was proud of them."

United, which had survived a first-half scare when World Cup star Francesco Graziani shaved the crossbar with a header, moved up a gear in the second half and left the Romans gasping with their silky football.

Indeed, they could have doubled their first-leg advantage in the closing 20 minutes. First Tancredi touched over a superb header by defender Paul Hegarty, then international striker Paul Sturrock headed weakly over from less than six metres.

LEE THE HERO

LIVERPOOL (England) 1 DINAMO BUCHAREST (Romania) 0. Scorers: Liverpool — Lee (26th minute). Halftime 1-0. Attendance 36,941.

LIVERPOOL: Gribbelaar, Neal, Kennedy, Lawrenson, Whelan, Hansen, Dalglish, Lee, Rush, Johnston, Soames.

DINAMO: Moraru, Rednic, Sancescu, Augustin, Nicolae, Mates, Talaru, Andone, Dragnea, Movila, Orac.

A night as brutal as any Liverpool has endured in its years of European Cup campaigns left the English champion with yet another second leg most likely to climb after its 1-0 win.

Semifinal opponent Dinamo Bucharest of Romania mixed wild kicking and off-the-ball aggression with time-wasting and its approach gave the first leg host little chance to establish any rhythm.

Dinamo's punishment from Swiss referee Andre Diana was four bookings, one of which will keep midfielder Ion Andone out of the second leg.

Liverpool's reward for almost total domination of the actual play was a 26th minute goal from Sammy Lee. The English midfielder sneaked through a crowded goalmouth to head in an accurately-struck free kick from full-back Alan Kennedy.

In spite of the twisting runs of Craig Johnston, the non-stop effort of Lee and the brave attempts of Ian Rush and Kenny Dalglish, Liverpool managed few chances.

The Romanians showed themselves capable of good defensive play when the mood took them and their ability to counter-attack was underlined in the 18th minute.

Romanian international striker Ion Augustin chased a long clearance, beat Mark Lawrenson with ease and struck his shot against the foot of the post.

Augustin continued to look the players most likely to cause Liverpool problems in the return leg.

EUROPEAN FOOTBALL UNION CUP

Gudelj, Pesic, fight back

HADJUK SPLIT (Yugoslavia) 2 TOTTENHAM (England) in Split. Scores: Hajduk — Gudelj (67th minute), Pesic (77). Tottenham — Falco (19). Halftime 0-1. Attendance 35,000.

HADJUK SPLIT: Zoran Simovic, Nikica Cukrov, Boko Milos, Ivan Gudelj, Jerolimovic, Zedran Rosic, Zoran Vukic, Bla Fliskovic, Zoran Vukovic, Drago Celic, Dusan Pesic.

TOTTENHAM: Tony Parks,

Paul Miller, Graham Roberts, Chris Hughton, Danny Thomas, Mike Hazard, Gary Mabbutt, Tony Galvin, Steve Perryman, Mark Falco, Steve Archibald.

Hajduk Split to a fraught 2-1 win over England's Tottenham in their UEFA cup semi final first leg tie.

Injury-hit Tottenham without talented England midfielder Glenn Hoddie or Argentine Osvaldo Ardiles, grabbed a shock lead after just 19 minutes when Mark Falco scored.

But the Yugoslavs responded with goals from defender

Ivana Gudelj and Dusan Pesic after Tottenham seemed set to return home on the threshold of its first UEFA Cup final for a decade.

Falco-fired Tottenham ahead seconds after missing a penalty. Gudelj handed the ball inside the area and Falco stepped up to convert the kick.

His attempts Zoran saved by goalkeeper Zoran Simovic but Tottenham winger Tony Galvin collected the rebound and crossed for Falco to scramble the ball home.

Tottenham eased confidently towards victory until Gudelj struck in the 67th minute, when his shot from seven metres deflected off Gary Mabbutt past Tottenham goalkeeper Tony Parks.

The goal inspired the Yugoslavs and 10 minutes later striker Pesic snatched the winner from close range after a corner from Bla Siskovic.

As the tension grew, referee Robert Wurtz booked Graham Roberts and Hajduk's Nikica Cukrov. But Tottenham survived the final minutes to take an advantage into the second leg.

Nigel Davenport

Little Hodge heads two

NOTTINGHAM FOREST (England) 2 ANDERLECHT (Belgium) 0 in Nottingham. Scorers: Forest — Hodge 2 (84th and 88th minutes). Halftime 0-0. Attendance 22,681.

NOTTINGHAM FOREST: Van Breukelen, Anderson, Swain, Fairclough, Hart, Bowyer, Wigley, Mills, Davenport, Hodge, Walsh.

ANDERLECHT: Munro, Peruzovic, De Greef, Czerniatynski, De Groot, Vercauteren, Vandenbergh, Olsen, Seif.

The tiny figure of Steve Hodge pointed Nottingham Forest towards the UEFA Cup final with two late headed goals against Belgium Cup holders Anderlecht.

Anderlecht looked set for a satisfying goalless draw in this first leg of the semi final when Hodge struck in four dramatic minutes near the end.

Forest had tried everything to break down its ill-fated Belgian opponents and appeared to be running out of attacking ideas.

No-one was prepared for Forest's final charge.

Gary Mills, who had worked so tirelessly and impressively on his return to European action after breaking his leg in three places two years ago, fired over a deep cross in the 84th minute. Hodge popped up at the far post to head home.

Four minutes later he struck again. This time Steve Wigley sent over the cross and again Hodge was unchecked as he stooped low to nod the ball into goal.

There was not even time for Anderlecht to raise a spirited reply.

The outcome was a splendid result for Forest, missing key striker Garry Birtles.

Peter Davenport toiled manfully in attack but to often lacked support — and luck. In the 48th minute his shot after a corner was kicked off the line

Hofkens repeated the feat in the 72nd minute when Hodge's header was palmed on to his back and cleared by goalkeeper Jacques Munaron.

E il momento magico del calcio italo-australiano

VIVA ITALIA!

with ROCKY DI ZIO

Altra giornata molto positiva per il calcio italiano in Australia: la Juventus di Melbourne e ormai incontrastata capofila della NSL; l'Apia ha raggiunto la vetta della classifica nel girone australiano della NSL; l'Inter Monaro e' sempre in testa alla classifica del campionato statale del N.S.W. ed il Fawcner si e' staccato ed e solo al comando nel campionato statale della Victoria; nelle divisioni minori del Victoria la Tristina continua a tutta birra, il Thomastown e' ormai in vista della ca-

polista, bene stanno facendo anche East Brunswick, Bulleen e diverse altre.

Ovunque c'e' inoltre una fioritura di giocatori con nomi italiani, alcuni gia' noti, altri che si stanno affermando di prepotenza in tempi brevissimi, molti altri ancora che stanno aspettando dietro le quinte per l'occasione di mettersi in luce.

La maggior parte delle squadre italiane hanno inoltre vivaci giovanili in cui migliaia e migliaia di ragazzini vogliono emulare le gesta di Claudio Lucchesi, di Fabio Incantato, di Andrea Zinni di Frank Farina, di Joe Rizzotto, di Licata, Villani, Geremia, Bertogna, Morsello, Melita, De Vito, Curcio, Carbone, Angelini e la lista potrebbe continuare ancora per un bel po'.

Noi siamo convinti che il calcio italo-australiano non e' mai stato in condizione così florida a tutti i livelli e su base nazionale. E siamo inoltre convinti che questa situazione favorevole non si sia venuta a creare per caso, non solo, ma che continuerà a migliorare ancora di più nei prossimi anni.

I motivi di questa "italianizzazione" del calcio locale sono indubbiamente molti, e la maggior parte di essi sono ovvi, ma forse il fattore esterno più determinante e' stata la vittoria dell'Italia nella Coppa del Mondo di due anni fa. In questo pur breve periodo centinaia di ragazzini italo-australiani hanno sentito l'orgoglio e lo sprone di avere qualcosa in comune con Rossi o con Conti, con Zoff o con Cabrini, con Gentile o con Scirea; migliaia di genitori italo-australiani hanno cominciato a sognare che i loro figli un giorno sarebbero diventati famosi come gli "Azzurri", altre migliaia di "fosti" italo-australiani hanno ricominciato a riappassionarsi ad uno sport che stava affievolendosi come passione e stile di vita; centinaia di italo-australiani hanno abbracciato la causa del calcio a livello dirigenziale e di sponsorizzazione, molti club italiani hanno perciò potuto fare uno sforzo maggiore sia per qualità che per quantità.

Ora che le cose stanno andando per il verso giusto e' necessario pianificare per il futuro, non solo per sentimenti nazionalistici di tipo "campanile" ma con un senso di voler essere migliori per il bene del calcio locale in generale. Dove un miglioramento e' ancora tanto necessario e' indubbiamente a livello dirigenziale. Non e' colpa di nessuno se non esiste una scuola dove si possa imparare a "fare il presidente" o a "fare il segretario" di un club calcistico: bisogna imparare di punto in bianco, facendo sbagli e pagandoli a caro prezzo.

Non e' necessario però fare sbagli per mancanza di buon senso e di saper trattare la gente. Nel nostro ambiente ci sono due tipi di dirigenti: i "lavoratori" e gli "uomini d'affari"; queste due categorie a loro volta si dividono in "intenditori" e "profani", in "vecchia guardia" e "convertiti".

Per cominciare vorremmo esprimere un'opinione con la quale non tutti saranno d'accordo: per essere un dirigente di un club calcistico non e' necessario essere un intenditore di calcio! Certo che una infarinatura dello sport non farebbe male, ma alla fin dei conti chi se ne deve intendere di calcio sono l'allenatore, il direttore tecnico e coloro connessi direttamente con la squadra, anzi con c'e' nulla di peggio di un presidente che "crede" di intendere di calcio e vuole dire all'allenatore, al direttore tecnico ed al giocatore come giocare! Se un presidente dovesse intendere di calcio tanto quanto un allenatore, ben farebbe a prendere il posto del tecnico e lasciare quello del dirigente. Interferire, consigliare quando non richiesto, cercare di influenzare decisioni di carattere tecnico, e via di seguito, sono le cose peggiori che un presidente possa fare.

Il fatto di essere un tifoso da lunga data o una persona che fino a poco tempo fa non sapeva molto di calcio o di una certa squadra, e' anche un fattore molto irrilevante: alcuni possono imparare molto presto, mentre altri possono continuare a fare gli stessi sbagli che fanno da anni. Un "nuovo" di solito ha idee nuove, porta in un club gente nuova, non ha "nemici", non ha fatto "sbagli".

Quindi, per noi, le due categorie di dirigenti sulle quali la pena soffermarsi sono i "lavoratori" e gli "uomini d'affari". definizioni queste troppo generiche per necessità di cose ma che useremo ugualmente per agevolare lo svolgimento di questa piccola analisi.

I "lavoratori", quasi come dice l'espressione, sono persone che lavorano sia nella vita privata che nel club. Gente che si da da fare in continuazione, che manda avanti il club con sacrifici personali di ogni genere, che e' amica di tutti, che non dorme la notte per pensare a quello che deve fare il giorno dopo, che e' a disposizione sette sere la settimana e l'intero week-end, che ha una grande volontà e passione, ecc., ecc., ecc.

Queste persone molto spesso hanno iniziato nei club di calcio e li hanno mandati avanti per anni, a volte fino ad un livello ragguardevole, sono state onorate e rispettate da giocatori, tifosi ed altri dirigenti. E sono in effetti la base solida del calcio italo-australiano.

Gli "uomini d'affari", anche loro come l'espressione dice, sono persone che si interessano di affari (o che svolgono professioni in proprio). E' questa gente che di solito ha

poco tempo e poca pazienza per aspettare risultati a lunga scadenza, che in linea di massima cerca di portare nel calcio la sua capacità imprenditoriale e amministrativa, che non intende "tirare avanti" come gli altri magari avranno fatto nel passato, che vuole cambiare e ammodernare, riorganizzare e riprogrammare.

Tutte e due le categorie hanno perciò qualità e caratteristiche diverse, ma tutte e due sono funzionali ed al successo di un club. Il guaio e' che spesso queste due categorie non sembrano capaci di convivere per molto tempo. I "lavoratori" vorrebbero lavorare perché "solo con il lavoro" si mandano avanti i club; gli "uomini d'affari" vorrebbero fare di un club calcistico una impresa commerciale (il famoso "business" di cui si sente parlare tanto a proposito ed a sproposito), perché solo a quel modo si assicura il futuro del club.

Come al solito, secondo noi, la ragione e' esattamente nel mezzo: in un club di calcio ci vuole un po' dell'uno ed un po' dell'altro. I "lavoratori" dovrebbero capire che ad ammazarsi per un club sette giorni la settimana non e' una cosa né tanto redditizia né che può durare per sempre, oltre al lavoro bisogna anche pensare a sapere amministrare, a sapere prendere decisioni razionali, ad avere idee vedute, a cercare sistemi nuovi, a saper trattare bene i giocatori, il pubblico, gli sponsor, la stampa, i ragazzini e i loro genitori della sezione giovanile, le autorità comunali, gli uomini politici. A volte il riconoscere che bisogna fare tutte queste cose non significa che si e' anche capaci di farlo!

E' innegabile che un uomo d'affari (o un professionista) può fare certe cose molto meglio di persone con poca preparazione accademica e poca esperienza nel mondo degli affari. E' ovvio che e' facile per un industriale parlare di sponsorizzazione del club con un altro industriale; e' naturale che un avvocato si prenda cura egregiamente dei contratti con i giocatori, e' naturale che un ragioniere sa tenere bene i libri contabili di un club ed analizzare meglio la situazione finanziaria e le prospettive future. E' anche più che naturale che la gente all'esterno del club (autorità civili e calcistiche, pubblico, altri club, potenziali sponsor) abbia più fiducia di un club amministrato da professionisti e da uomini d'affari.

E' però anche vero che gli "uomini d'affari" da soli non possono far molto per molto tempo, ed altrettanto vero che i "lavoratori" da soli possono fare molto poco anche se riescono a resistere per molto tempo. L'ideale sarebbe perciò che ci sia un po' degli uni ed un po' degli altri, cosa non tanto difficile alla fin dei conti.

Ma non e' tanto facile per nessuno delle due categorie capire ed ammettere che tutte due debbano bisogno dell'altro; che quello che può fare uno non può farlo l'altro, che e' inutile cercare di prendere il sopravvento perché macchinazioni del genere portano solo ad un dannoso spreco di energie.

In altre parole, la classe dirigenziale del calcio italo-australiano nella specifica funzione di amministrazione sportiva, ha bisogno di maturare molto in fretta per non far svanire le ottime prospettive che i nostri ragazzi e le nostre squadre stanno costruendo sui campi di gioco.

He said he had asked coaches to supply even more detailed information on players.

"I don't want negative passes — alibi passes if you like," he said.

"I don't want players who are unwilling to take the responsibility to do something with the ball."

"It's all right winning the ball in a duel, but does the player then hold possession, and do something constructive? How does a player respond under pressure? There are some of the things that interest me."

Arok said he would travel between Sydney and Melbourne to be with both training squads.

He has been going through video tapes of matches played by all the visiting clubs except Iraklis.

"I need more information about Iraklis. Some of my Greek friends have undertaken to get footage for me of their games," Arok said.

Arok's most pressing task is to prepare for the Manchester United clash on the Sydney Cricket Ground on Saturday May 26.

"All tactics for this game must be set in advance and there is no chance to make adjustments," Arok explained.

"We play them once only as their other two games are against Notts Forest in Melbourne and then Juventus in Sydney."

Sydney City's capable Eddie Thomson has the Australia B Team with support from John Margaritis of Juventus Former Soccerero great Ati Abonyi has been drafted in as Arok's assistant with the A side.

"All four coaches will be sitting down to decide the way in which we will be attacking our tremendous job," said Arok.

ΟΙ ΥΠΟΧΩΡΗΣΕΙΣ ΣΤΑ ΣΤΟΙΧΕΙΩΔΗ ΚΑΡΤΟΤΑ

Νέα υποχώρηση από το Δ. Συμβούλιο της "Ελλάς Μεταβόρνης και ο Κάρλ Χάφφοντ" που γιά όλους σχεδόν τους παράγοντες είχε πάρει πλέον τα παπούτσια του από τον ελληνικό σάλογο γιατί κατά τους ίδιους ζητούσε πολλά... πάρα πολλά γιά να υπογράψει, εξασκεί έγινε πάλι να ανυψώνεται και άλλα... "Μέλι-γάλα" που λένε, εκτός από το ταμείο, αυτό το έρμιο ταμείο του συλλόγου που βόγγυε πάλι κάτω από την πίεση του ξένου παίκτη. Φυσικά ο άνθρωπος επισημειώθηκε από το άσχημο παιχνίδι των συναδέλφων του με την Γιουνιόν και καλά έκανε. Στο κάτω - κάτω αυτός ήταν ο σκοπός του και το κατόρθωσε.

Όπωςδήποτε δεν άμειβετο την αξία του μέσου της "Ελλάς" αλλά από ποσ βόμβαται είναι πώς στην σημερινή "Ελλάς" γίνονται υποχωρήσεις που κάποια μέρα θα είναι μοιραίες γιά όσους την διοικούν.

Πάντως αυτό που θα ήταν άπιαστο να γίνει στην "Ελλάς", είναι πώς αν στην θέση του Χάφφοντ ήταν Έλληνας θα είχε γίνει μεγάλος ντόρος "πώς ο Έλληνας εκβιάζει τον σύλλογο" και πολλά άλλα με αποτέλεσμα να τον έδιωχναν από αποδοκιμασία τράγο.

Αυτά τα λίγα γιά την περίπτωση του μέσου της "Ελλάς" και μη ξεχάσετε τα λόγια της στήλης, πώς οι υποχωρήσεις... αυτοί χάνουν κάποιο πολύ ακριβά σε όλους αυτούς που σήμερα σκύβουν το κεφάλι σε κάθε πίεση παίκτη.

ΥΠΑΡΧΕΙ Η ΟΧΙ ΠΡΟΒΛΗΜΑ ΣΤΟΝ ΜΕΤΑ;

"Αραγε υπάρχει πρόβλημα στον Μέγα ή όχι και κατά πόσο συζητείται; "Αν υπάρχει όχι θα είναι φεμά γιατί πρώτα απ' όλα τα προβλήματα είναι γιά όλες τις ομάδες και πώς πολύ τα οικονομικά. Τό κακό όμως μεγάλο τελευταία σχετιικά με τον τεχνικό Μπράντλιν Γκάρντνερ, τον οποίο διοικούνταν πολλά άλλα όλα αυτά απ' έξω από τον σύλλογο. Ο ίδιος ο πρόεδρος του Μέγα Σάι Γουόλντ πολλούς διέφυσσε τα πάντα και απέκλεισε εκθρόνισ της ομάδας αυτούς που γράσουν γιά τον προπονητή του.

Συμφωνούμε μαζί του και αυτή είναι η θέση που πρέπει να κρατήσει πάλι όμως δεν γνωρίζουμε τι θα γινούνταν αν ο Μέγα δεν θα είχε τους βαθμούς που έχει σήμερα. Μετά αυτό που ξέρουμε από πείρα, είναι πώς όπου βγαίνει κανείς υπάρχει και φωτιά, άσχετα αν ο κ. Γουόλντ ούλους πρόλαβε και την... έσβυσε.

ΤΟ ΑΛΒΑΝΙΣΜΑ ΔΕΝ ΚΑΝΕΙ ΚΑΛΟ

Εκεί που κακό το λιβάνισμα του Τόπου γιά τα ίδια και ίδια πρόσωπα γύρω από τους παρόντες των συλλόγων από πολύ λίγους πολύ μερικοί έχουν μαθαλθεί όχι το καλό αλλά... μαμπουφ.

Και μάλιστα όταν η ομάδα τους βλέπει νέες, τότε ποιος τους πιάνει, τότε ξεχάνει ακόμη και τους φίλους που τους βοηθούσαν να ξεκινήσουν και να σταθούν στα πόστα που έχουν.

Και δεν είναι μόνο αυτό αλλά είναι και άπειροι και δεν άνεχονται την κάθε κριτική όταν έχουν πέσει σε κάποιο λάθος... Κρίμα... πολύ κρίμα.

ΤΟ ΠΡΑΓΜΑΤΟΣ ΜΕ ΒΙΟΛΟΓΙΑ

Δεν γνωρίζουμε αν είναι ελπίδα ή όχι και κατά πόσο λέχθηκε μέσα στο Δ. Συμβούλιο της "Ελλάς" γι' αυτό το γράφουμε με σχετική επιφύλαξη.

Κάποιοι ή κάποιοι μέσα από το Συμβούλιο είναι της γνώμης πώς η ομάδα κάθε χρόνο πρέπει να ενισχύεται με ένα παίκτη της αξίας των... 25.000 δολαρίων.

Φαίνεται λοιπόν ότι τους "πέρασε" και γι' αυτό πήραν τον Πάλλ Λιούθς που μαζί με την υπογραφή του στοίχισε πάνω από τις 32.000 δολάρια.

Μερεβόνητες μόνο όταν μας έλεγε ο πληρωφορολόγος ότι ο Πάλλ Μακέντνυ δεν έδειχνε ενδιαφέρον γιά τον Λιούθς... Μά είναι δυνατόν;

ΑΣΤΕΙΑ ΠΡΑΓΜΑΤΑ

Σταμάτησε από το πόστο του ο πάρα πολύ φιλότιμος και εργατικός παράγων της "Ελλς" κ. Λιούθς απόλλων και παρόλληλα το έργο του στεφθήθηκε τον... έκφυση της. "Αυτοί με μπερδώνουν άρχισε να αλλάζει χέρι και στο τέλος έκοψαν και το άραιο: "Λίος ο άνθρωπος που έκοψτηκε από το με γάφον... είναι και" άναγκη μέχρι να βρεθεί ο κατάλληλος γιάτι πρόκειται γιά... έργο της "Ελλάς".

Γιά την περίπτωση αυτή όμως μάθαμε και το άλλο: πώς το ίδιο άτομο πρό ημερών έκανε χρέη (αφ' ελπίδας) γραμματέα της "Ελ-λς".

Πώς γίνονται να είναι ανεπιθύμητος και συγχρόνως... γραμματέας, αυτό άνήκει όχι στα παράξενα αλλά στα φαιερά.

YUGOSLOVENSKA SCENA

PRVI PORAZ U GOSTIMA

JUST je doživio prvi poraz u gostima, što je svako očekivao. Posle nekoliko uzastopnih loših igara doslo je do pro-mene trenera. Novi (sajstari) trener Ceda Cirikov imaio je nesreću da ponedu u Sidney sastav bez najboljeg igrača Gary McDowell, koji je na treningu povredio nogu, ali je navodno i zražio i celju da napusti JUST. Razume se, svu nameru nije povezo sa promenom trenera već zeljom da igra za uspešnij klub. Ocijednno, Ceda Cirikov nece imati tak posao, a imao i poveću opoziciju koja je licne prirode. Treba samo imati zive, vite takta i upornosti, a fudbalskog znanja Cirikov ima na pretek.

Vreme je da se jedanput
posveti veca paznja mladim igračima, što do sada nije bio slučaj. Iskusi igrači su po-trebni, ali njihov broj mora biti uvek mnogo manji od mladih.
Bas zbog toga JUST je iz-gubio susret u Sidney, jer je spora odbrana kriva za oba gola u prvih 15 minuta. Bile su to neoprostive greske, ali na srecu nisu dovele do očekivane katastrofe. "Olavi" su se sre-dili i smanjili rezultat, tako da su pretrpeli castan poraz.
Jamie Paton je razbio meler i postigao prvi gol u ovogodis-njem prvenstvu, što je dobar znak.

Međuzonske utakmice nisu
dolece očekivan finansijski uspeh, bar što se tice susreta Melita Eagles u JUST u Sidney, gde je bilo ispod 700 gledalaca, vecinom Jugoslovenca.
Posete u Melbourne su svakako veće, ali izvestaji su posteniji.
I sledeće nedelje JUST igra
u gostima protiv neugodnog Lionsa u Brisbanu, gde je dozivo najtise poraze.

JUSTov mladi tim bio je slobodan prosle nedelje, pa je taj iskoriscen za prijateljsku utakmicu sa amaterskim timom Jadran, koji je pobed-nio 3:1 (3.0). U nedelju 22.
aprila mladi tim JUST igra u gostima protiv Frankston Pinesa.

TEZAK PORAZ MAKEDONIJE

Makedonija do sada nije dobro prolazila u Sidney, ali

vajije Blacktowna niko nije očekivao. Jedina uspesna vest jeste da se Gary Cole upisao u strelce, ali to je slaba uteha.
Uprava Makedonije se sigurno nece pozuriti da za neuspesh opusti samo trenera, ali ocijednno je da Makedonija ne fu-kionisne vise kao uspesna celina, a najosetljivija tacka je navala, koja igra komplico-vano i nekorisno. Zbog toga odbrana igra suvisle otvoreno i ofanzivno, ali i riskanuto. Pa puta se isplatio, ali ovog puta nije.

U nedelju 22. aprila Makodonija igra na svom igralistu protiv Canberbe City, a u pre-digri mladi tim se sastaje sa Knox Cityem.

Melbourne CROATA je napravila jos jedno iznenadjenje, ovog puta ugodno, jer je njih sala pobediti Olympia usred Sidneya, iako je domacin igrao sa 10 igračima. Trener Henneste je zatvorio kritikanima sala, a oni koji su mu dali podrsku dobili su satisfakciju i odredene rubke za vodjenje kluba, koji ima velike ambicije.

U nedelju 22. aprila Mako-
donia Croatia igra protiv West Adelaide na Olympic Parku, a mladi tim protiv Morwell Falconsa.

PRVENSTVO MELBOURNA

Borbu za primat u os-labljenjoo Drzavnoj ligi vode Fawkner, Polonia i Western Suburbs, dok ostali timovi sa malim izuzecima samo popu-njavaju broj. Dragan Vasic se tek u petom kolu upisao u strelce, ali posto nije igrao prve tri utakmice, jos ima bada da ispuni obećanje da ce biti najbolji strelac Drzavne lige. Si Albans/Dinamo jos uvek je bez jednog boda na dnu tabele, ali sa dolaskom Branka Culine igra se bolje i korisnije.

USPEH VARDARA

Melbourne — Altona Gate
VARDAR 0:1 (0.1) Strelac

nicki bolji a domaci tim fizicki jači.

tvarena zbog grubih gresaka
odbrane. Posle petog kola Ringwood/Srbija je dvanaesta sa 3 boda na tablici druge di-vizije. Sledeće susede: Ringwood/Srbija u. St. Oakleigh.

Central City/C. zvezda —

Zanimljiva utakmica, koja se završila pobedom srećnijem timu u zadnjim minutima igre.

igrač Mladosti Emilio Theocaridis i smestio je u mrežu nemocnog golmana Nikole Popovica. Na pocetku, pa i na kraju igre, Zvezda je imala kežnije sanses, ali golman Mladosti Milutin Ciric ostao je ne-
